OVER 300 PERSONS DIE IN HEAT WAVE

Mercury Passed 100 In Chicago Yesterday For Second Successive Day

(International News Service)

The backbone of a nation-wide heat wave, during which more than 300 persons died of prostration or drowning, was broken today. Masses of cool air already had brought relief to most of the heat-ridden areas, and were spreading into the remaining sections.

The relief arrived suddenly in Chicago last night, after the mercury had climbed above 100 degrees for the second successive day—the fourth time in history this has occurred. At 5 p. m., the temperature was 101; at 8 p. m., it was still 97; but by 10 p. m. it had power-dived to 73.

Cooler In West

The cooling winds, which earlier had swept over the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin, were accompanied by showers, local windstorms and electrical displays. Many trees were blown down, a barn was struck by lightning and burned with a loss of $10,000, and several boats were capsized.

Forecasts for cooler were issued for the states to which the cooling winds had not yet penetrated. These included Nebraska, where the mercury rocketed to 112 at Lincoln and 108 at Omaha yesterday, and Indiana, which felt 105-degree heat at Laporte yesterday.

Ohio Valley Last To Cool

The Ohio valley appeared destined to be one of the last sections to gain surcease from blazing heat, but cooler was forecast for Ohio tonight and for Kentucky, West Virginia,

Congress To Retain Control Over Scope Of Conscription Plan

By ROBERT A. McGILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Congress will have control over the scope of the compulsory military training program through specific regulation of funds, it was disclosed today.

Members of the Senate Military Affairs committee revealed that they wrote into the pending conscription bill language which will prohibit the president from inducting men into military service until funds have first been earmarked and appropriated by congress.

This section of the measure was interpreted by several committee members as giving congress broad powers over the scope of the program through control of the purse strings. It precludes, they said, the possibility of using general funds to be made up later by deficiency appropriations.

Congress To Keep Control

Sen. Johnson (D) Colo., a member of the committee said:

"What we have done is to give congress control of conscription by controlling the purse strings, which is absolutely essential unless we want to go into a dictatorship."

Adopted unanimously by the committee, the section reads:

U. S. Move Will Hit Japan Hard

Placing Scrap-Iron And Steel On Export Control List Blow To Jap's War

By JAMES R. YOUNG
(For Ten Years Eastern Director Of International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 26—The United States government by placing scrap iron and steel on the export control list hits Japan with the most severe economic blow since abrogation last August of the 29-year old commercial treaty.

Japan's national production companies today are worried. They will be unable to satisfy the militarists who are demanding full quotas of scrap iron and scrap steel. Japan for months has feared the emergency listing of these essentials. Japan has been operating on a 24 hour business basis. Washington has reduced this situation to minutes.

Some Japanese admit the necessity of the United States conserving resources during an emergency but they feel the action is to provide more materials for England's requirements primarily, and secondarily for United States defense mensures.

Four Stukas took part in the attack upon the little armed trawler, it was revealed. Before the Fleming went down, she blew one of the bombers to bits with her anti-aircraft guns and damaged another so badly it was doubtful if it could make its base.

Two other trawlers engaged in the action in which the Fleming was sunk suffered no casualties, the admiralty statement said.

HAVANA, July 26.—A definite conflict of opinion between the United States and Argentina on the question of European colonies in the western hemisphere was brought into the open today following another plenary session of the Inter-American conference of foreign ministers.

Officials connected with the parley made no secret of the fact that Argentine opposition to Secretary of State Cordell Hull's plan for a Pan-American "trusteeship" over such colonies, should such action become necessary, has sharpened the divergence between Washington and Buenos Aires.

Difference Revealed

Hull's plan is aimed at preventing transfer of European colonies in the western hemisphere from one non-European nation to another—specifically from defeated European countries to Nazi Germany.

The difference of opinion was revealed by the Argentine delegate, Dr. Leopoldo Melo, who said the most important resolution submit-

Mercury Hits Ninety-Eight

Hottest Day Of Current Heat Wave Is Registered Thursday, Records Show

It is always darkest just before dawn, an old saying relates, and when it comes to heat waves, one might state that it is always hottest before the heat wave is finally broken.

At any rate, with promises that the current hot spell is due to end sometime late today, New Castle folks still sweltered under a blistering sun which sent the mercury soaring to 98 degrees on the government's official recording thermometer at the pump station of the City of New Castle Water company, Thursday.

To add to their misery, there seemed to be little air stirring last night, and sleeping was almost out of the question. Even out along the Slippery Rock creek, where folks most always sleep under two blankets, when the folks in town don't even care for a sheet it was hot. It was one degree warmer the night before, according to the records, but one felt it worse last night.

The weather man at the Pittsburgh weather station stated two things this morning. One that today would be hotter than yesterday, as if that could be possible, and that the heat wave would probably be broken by tonight. And everyone in New Castle and Lawrence county hopes he is right.

Bankers Enjoy Banquet Event

Cartoonist Cy Hungerford Entertains At Dinner At Field Club

Dignity hit a falling market on Thursday night at the dinner of the Lawrence County Bankers' Association, when Cy Hungerford, ace cartoonist of Pittsburgh, entertained the members of the association with his art. The dinner was held in the dining room of the New Castle Field club and the entertainment was held in the living room.

With his facile pencil Hungerford pictured for the bankers, as they watched, some of the idiosyncracies of their members, drew cartoons of famous world wide figures and for an hour had the bankers laughing at the figures that almost came to life on his drawing board.

The dinner in the evening concluded an afternoon of pleasure. A golf tournament was held, with prizes to the winners. The account of the tournament will be found on the sport pages.

James Taylor, president of the Lawrence County Bankers, was the chairman of the evening and handled the program well. Following the chalk talk by Hungerford, prizes were distributed, and the bankers spent the balance of the evening in an old fashioned fanning bee.

LONDON, July 26.—German bombing squadrons resumed their steady battering of English coastal areas today, killing two women and wounding six persons in an attack on a southeastern English town.

A German bomber was shot down in southwest England this morning. A British farmer captured the pilot. The three other members of the crew were killed.

Meanwhile, an official British announcement claimed that 25 German planes were destroyed in yesterday's spectacular air battles over Britain and the English Channel.

TO TEST VALUE OF TURNPIKE

Military Value Of New Super-Highway Will Be Demonstrated Next Month

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 26. — The military value of the Pennsylvania Turnpike will undergo an acid test August 6 and 7 when an actual troop movement over a stretch of 135-miles will be conducted, it was learned today.

Plans for the "American blitzkrieg movement" of Philadelphia's 108th Field Artillery battalian from Indiantown Gap to Bedford were submitted to the Turnpike commission by Major Theodore Paul, battalion commander.

Officials of Turnpike disclosed the tests were designed primarily to prove the value of the express highway as a means of transporting troops rapidly and thus release federal funds for the extension of the road to Philadelphia.

Paul intends to prove that a mechanized battalion of 200 men, and 21 motor units, can move across country 135-miles in approximately five hours, providing the Turnpike is used.

"We've got to move far and fast," Paul said. "The time element means everything in this type of test."

Arthur Mometer

He snorts all day of the burning heat, and squawks of the heat waves from the street, and then goes home and he tries to sleep, but he swelters. He dreams of a lake where the ice is thick, his pillow the while is a burning brick, and he dreams of a place that is green and slick where it shelters, a cooling pond made of lemonade, a little sun and a lot of shade, but the weather whispered to me, that it won't be cool for a spell just yet, and on this line you can lay a bet so you needn't worry or snort or fret, its up to 103.

Argentina In Conflict With Secretary Hull's Plan At Conference

By JOSEPH BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, July 26.—A definite conflict of opinion between the United States and Argentina on the question of European colonies in the western hemisphere was brought into the open today following another plenary session of the Inter-American conference of foreign ministers.

Officials connected with the parley made no secret of the fact that Argentine opposition to Secretary of State Cordell Hull's plan for a Pan-American "trusteeship" over such colonies, should such action become necessary, has sharpened the divergence between Washington and Buenos Aires.

Difference Revealed

Hull's plan is aimed at preventing transfer of European colonies in the western hemisphere from one non-European nation to another—specifically from defeated European countries to Nazi Germany.

The difference of opinion was revealed by the Argentine delegate, Dr. Leopoldo Melo, who said the most important resolution submit-

TOKYO, July 26—Sharp "repercussions" in the far east were predicted by an official Japanese spokesman today as the result of dispatches from Washington disclosing a presidential embargo on scrap iron and oil shipments to Japan.

The spokesman did not use the word 'reprisal" and gave no direct warning of retaliation, but predicted that the move would have serious consequences.

Large Numbers Being Concentrated On Bulgarian And Greek Borders

By GEORGE BALINT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BUDAPEST, July 26.—Turkey was reported concentrating large numbers of troops on her Bulgarian and Greek frontiers today as part of new defense measures which included calling three new classes of reserves to the colors.

Twenty Turkish divisions, about 300,000 men, were said to have been put into the lines in Thrace, where a strong defensive force always has been stationed.

Whether this move had any significance was a matter of speculation in Balkan political circles. Coming at a time when Germany had summoned the Bulgarian and Rumanian premiers and foreign min-

Hitler Seeking To Break Turkish Ties With Great Britain

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 26.—As a preludo to the "storm over England," Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today began a systematic reorganization of southeastern Europe, with particular attention to weaning Turkey away from her former collaboration with Great Britain.

Turko-German relations are moving rapidly toward complete reapprochment, informed quarters said. The trade agreement signed in Ankara yesterday, providing for exchange of goods totalling 21,000,000 Turkish pounds, "is symptomatic of the new political outlook between the Reich and Turkey," a spokesman said.

Mercury Hits Ninety-Eight

Hottest Day Of Current Heat Wave Is Registered Thursday, Records Show

It is always darkest just before dawn, an old saying relates, and when it comes to heat waves, one might state that it is always hottest before the heat wave is finally broken.

At any rate, with promises that the current hot spell is due to end sometime late today, New Castle folks still sweltered under a blistering sun which sent the mercury soaring to 98 degrees on the government's official recording thermometer at the pump station of the City of New Castle Water company, Thursday.

To add to their misery, there seemed to be little air stirring last night, and sleeping was almost out of the question. Even out along the Slippery Rock creek, where folks most always sleep under two blankets, when the folks in town don't even care for a sheet it was hot. It was one degree warmer the night before, according to the records, but one felt it worse last night.

The weather man at the Pittsburgh weather station stated two things this morning. One that today would be even hotter than yesterday, as if that could be possible, and that the heat wave would probably be broken by tonight. And everyone in New Castle and Lawrence county hopes he is right.

Bankers Enjoy Banquet Event

Cartoonist Cy Hungerford Entertains At Dinner At Field Club

Dignity hit a falling market on Thursday night at the dinner of the Lawrence County Bankers' Association, when Cy Hungerford, ace cartoonist of Pittsburgh, entertained the members of the association with his art. The dinner was held in the dining room of the New Castle Field club and the entertainment was held in the living room.

With his facile pencil Hungerford pictured for the bankers, as they watched, some of the idiosyncracies of their members, drew cartoons of famous world wide figures and for an hour had the bankers laughing at the figures that almost came to life on his drawing board.

The dinner in the evening concluded an afternoon of pleasure. A golf tournament was held, with prizes to the winners. The account of the tournament will be found on the sport pages.

James Taylor, president of the Lawrence County Bankers, was the chairman of the evening and handled the program well. Following the chalk talk by Hungerford, prizes were distributed, and the bankers spent the balance of the evening in an old fashioned fanning bee.

Report New Appeal Is Made For Peace

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 26.—A new appeal to President Roosevelt to use his influence in behalf of peace was reported by the German-controlled Dutch radio today.

An announcement broadcast by the Dutch radio said the Netherlands peace committee, which is working to convene an international peace conference at The Hague, appealed to President Roosevelt to offer his good offices to seek an honorable peace.

The message was quoted as saying:

"In the name of humanity we beg you to prevent the destruction of one of two brother peoples."

Britain Claims 28 Nazi Planes Lost In Battle

New Day's Record For Destruction Of German Planes Is Reported

Aerial Raids On British Isles Resumed This Morning, However

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 26.—German bombing squadrons resumed their steady battering of English coastal areas today, killing two women and wounding six persons in an attack on a southeastern English town.

A German bomber was shot down in southwest England this morning. A British farmer captured the pilot. The three other members of the crew were killed.

Meanwhile, an official British announcement claimed that 25 German planes were destroyed in yesterday's spectacular air battles over Britain and the English Channel.

This constituted a new high in German plane casualties for one day, the air ministry announced. The previous record was 23 shot down in one day, on July 11.

An official statement said it was established that 28 enemy planes

TO TEST VALUE OF TURNPIKE

Military Value Of New Super-Highway Will Be Demonstrated Next Month

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 26. — The military value of the Pennsylvania Turnpike will undergo an acid test August 6 and 7 when an actual troop movement over a stretch of 135-miles will be conducted, it was learned today.

Plans for the "American blitzkrieg movement" of Philadelphia's 108th Field Artillery battalian from Indiantown Gap to Bedford were submitted to the Turnpike commission by Major Theodore Paul, battalion commander.

Officials of Turnpike disclosed the tests were designed primarily to prove the value of the express highway as a means of transporting troops rapidly and thus release federal funds for the extension of the road to Philadelphia.

Paul intends to prove that a mechanized battalion of 200 men, and 21 motor units, can move across country 135-miles in approximately five hours, providing the Turnpike is used.

"We've got to move far and fast," Paul said. "The time element means everything in this type of test."

Arthur Mometer

He snorts all day of the burning heat, and squawks of the heat waves from the street, and then goes home and he tries to sleep, but he swelters. He dreams of a lake where the ice is thick, his pillow the while is a burning brick, and he dreams of a place that is green and slick where it shelters, a cooling pond made of lemonade, a little sun and a lot of shade, but the weather whispered to me, that it won't be cool for a spell just yet, and on this line you can lay a bet so you needn't worry or snort or fret, its up to 103.

State Heat Wave May Break Today

Hottest Day Of Summer Occurs

Showers Late Today Or Tonight May Bring Temperature Down Somewhat

FREAK HAIL STORM DOES MUCH DAMAGE

(International News Service)

It's going to get hotter before it gets cooler.

That was the unwelcome news the United States weather bureau had to offer Pennsylvanians today after the entire state had sweltered under the scorching rays of the hottest day of the current heat wave.

Up until 2 a. m. today there was a death toll of 16 prostrations and 17 drownings in the state.

Harrisburg yesterday afternoon recorded a high temperature of 99 degrees. In Philadelphia the mercury hit 91 while 95 was recorded in downtown Pittsburgh.

Expect Cooler Weather

Showers late today or tonight were expected to usher in the cooler weather, according to the weather bureau. A cool air mass was reported to be moving out of the northwest headed directly at Pennsylvania.

A freak hailstorm at Allentown was responsible for breaking some 8,000 windows in two greenhouses. The hailstones were reported to be as big as golf balls.

At Scranton the temperature rose to 91.

In the eastern sections of the state the humidity rose 45 per cent above normal. A thunderstorm brought temporary relief in this vicinity but was responsible for much damage in Philadelphia and nearby areas, wrecking trees, halting transportation, setting two fires and injuring two men.

At Pittsburgh steel mills, employes were fed salt tablets in closely regulated rations in an effort to offset the intense heat from both sun and ovens.

In Fayette county, Michael Dorich, 48, of East Millsboro, collapsed as he was pumping water from a well and died before the arrival of a physician.

BRITAIN CLAIMS 28 NAZI PLANES LOST IN BATTLE

had been shot down during yesterday's combats, in which hundreds of German planes were repelled.

In contrast to the heavy German losses, it was stated, only five British fighting planes were lost.

This morning's air ministry announcement stated that only "slight" German aerial activity occurred during the night over southeastern and southwestern England and Wales.

Bombs Are Dropped

Bombs were dropped near a town in east Anglia, but no casualties or damages were reported in any Area, the announcement added.

Late this morning enemy planes were reported over southeastern England.

Other German planes were reported over Wales.

This afternoon German planes were still active over southeastern and southwestern England.

Of the German planes knocked out out the skies in yesterday's gigantic engagements, at least 11 were bombers, according to an air ministry communique.

(In Berlin the German high command claimed that Nazi planes late yesterday afternoon sank 11 British ships in a convoy of 23 in the English Channel, damaging three other merchant ships and two British destroyers.)

King In Raid Shelter

For 10 minutes, during one air battle, King George VI took refuge in an air raid shelter on the south coast, where he was conducting a tour of naval establishments.

The monarch had completed an inspection of recruits when the air raid warning was sounded. While the men and boys marched off in orderly fashion, the King, accompanied by Admiral Sir William James, motored to a nearby shelter.

The marching men cheered as the monarch drove slowly past.

Later King George boarded Dutch, Polish, Norwegian and French warships and later entrained for London.

When he emerged from the shelter after the Nazi raiders passed, the King was smoking a cigarette. He calmly asked what direction the raiders had taken and watched R. A. F. planes flying to intercept them. Then he said:

"I think we might go on now."

Showers, thunderstorms and cooler likewise were forecast farther east, to arrive either today or tomorrow in such states as New York, Vermont, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

Michigan, where a four-year high of 96 was equalled at Detroit yesterday, likewise was to feel more moderate temperatures sometime today. The state had one of the highest death tolls in the country, with 26 victims of drowning and 12 dead of prostration.

ARGENTINA IN CONFLICT OVER SEC. HULL'S PLAN

ted by Argentina calls on the Havana conference to approve a proposition that European possessions in the Americas should determine their own destinies.

Significantly, however, the Argentine resolution excepts European-owned islands which are deemed an essential part of American countries, such as the Falkland islands, where the Argentine government does not recognize British sovereignty.

While the United States-Argentine divergence appeared clear-cut, American diplomats in Havana expressed belief that Melo will be "more cooperative" after he has succeeded in convincing smaller Latin-American nations of Argentina's prestige.

When the plenary session of the conference met late yesterday, Hull, after waiting in the conference hall for 40 minutes, walked out and asked Laurence Duggan, chief of the Latin-American division of the United States department, to represent him.

Later a spokesman for Hull said the secretary of state had been forced to return to his hotel office because of urgent State department business, nature of which was not specified.

Although Johnson approved this section he emphasized that he will probably vote against the bill. He is one of a number of senators who believe that adequate man power for the defense program can be obtained through voluntary enlistment.

These developments occurred as the committee neared completion of the bill for registration of men between the ages of 18 and 65 for selective military training and home defense service.

OFFICERS REPORT MAN UNDER ARREST ADMITS BANK HOLD-UP CHARGE

robbery which, according to bank officials, netted him $3410 and resulted in the shooting of Ray E. Gruber, 51, assistant cashier of the bank.

Report Confession

Bishop was escorted by police to "the scene of the crime" and according to officials, is reported to have made a complete confession early this morning.

Details of the arrest and confession of Bishop were not immediately available but it is believed he was taken by authorities first to the Hershey Training school barracks and then brought to Harrisburg.

Gruber, assistant cashier at the Hummelstown bank, was seriously wounded in the hold-up, when the bandit, concealing his identity by covering his face with adhesive tape, stalked into the bank and opened fire with a sawed-off shotgun as Gruber was complying with demands to turn over the bank's cash.

Mrs. Carroll C. Porter, teller, and Miss Mary Kuntz, stenographer, were with Gruber at the time but were not harmed.

Because the Hummelstown institution is a national bank, F.B.I. agents were immediately summoned and assigned to the case. Authorities at the time described the hold-up as the work of an amateur. The robbery, staged by the lone bandit, occurred at noon, June 21.

Paroled Murderer

Harrisburg, July 26.—William Jennings Bishop, 43, Palmyra, accused of robbing the nearby Hummelstown National bank of $3410 in a daring daylight raid on June 21 and shooting an employe, is a paroled murderer once sentenced to die in the electric chair, authorities announced today.

Police said the accused man, a stone-quarry worker, was released from prison November 25, 1938, and placed on parole for life. A death sentence lodged against him was commuted in 1926 to life imprisonment.

Authorities revealed that $1007.27 of the loot was recovered from Bishop's home, where he lived with his wife and 19-year-old son.

German quarters confidently expect that Turkey will soon renounce all her old ties with Britain.

"England," the spokesman declared, "is no longer able to mix in or disturb affairs on continental Europe."

In this connection, great importance was attached to negotiations under way at Salzburg between German and Rumanian statesmen which were officially described as a "blitz" confab. The meaning was that problems affecting Rumania and her neighbors, particularly Hungary, would be solved in a lightning manner.

Bulgarian delegates are due at Salzburg tomorrow for similar conversations, while a Slovakian mission will arrive tomorrow. Informed German quarters indicated no one should be surprised if complete settlement of all Balkan problems is announced over the week-end. Both Bulgaria and Hungary have claims on Rumania which the Reich apparently recognizes.

State Heat Wave May Break Today

Hottest Day Of Summer Occurs

Showers Late Today Or Tonight May Bring Temperature Down Somewhat

FREAK HAIL STORM DOES MUCH DAMAGE

(International News Service)

It's going to get hotter before it gets cooler.

That was the unwelcome news the United States weather bureau had to offer Pennsylvanians today after the entire state had sweltered under the scorching rays of the hottest day of the current heat wave.

Up until 2 a. m. today there was a death toll of 16 prostrations and 17 drownings in the state.

Harrisburg yesterday afternoon recorded a high temperature of 99 degrees. In Philadelphia the mercury hit 91 while 95 was recorded in downtown Pittsburgh.

Expect Cooler Weather

Showers late today or tonight were expected to usher in the cooler weather, according to the weather bureau. A cool air mass was reported to be moving out of the northwest headed directly at Pennsylvania.

A freak hailstorm at Allentown was responsible for breaking some 8,000 windows in two greenhouses. The hailstones were reported to be as big as golf balls.

At Scranton the temperature rose to 91.

In the eastern sections of the state the humidity rose 45 per cent above normal. A thunderstorm brought temporary relief in this vicinity but was responsible for much damage in Philadelphia and nearby areas, wrecking trees, halting transportation, setting two fires and injuring two men.

At Pittsburgh steel mills, employes were fed salt tablets in closely regulated rations in an effort to offset the intense heat from both sun and ovens.

In Fayette county, Michael Dorich, 48, of East Millsboro, collapsed as he was pumping water from a well and died before the arrival of a physician.

BRITAIN CLAIMS 28 NAZI PLANES LOST IN BATTLE

had been shot down during yesterday's combats, in which hundreds of German planes were repelled.

In contrast to the heavy German losses, it was stated, only five British fighting planes were lost.

This morning's air ministry announcement stated that only "slight" German aerial activity occurred during the night over southeastern and southwestern England and Wales.

Bombs Are Dropped

Bombs were dropped near a town in east Anglia, but no casualties or damages were reported in any Area, the announcement added.

Late this morning enemy planes were reported over southeastern England.

Other German planes were reported over Wales.

This afternoon German planes were still active over southeastern and southwestern England.

Of the German planes knocked out out the skies in yesterday's gigantic engagements, at least 11 were bombers, according to an air ministry communique.

(In Berlin the German high command claimed that Nazi planes late yesterday afternoon sank 11 British ships in a convoy of 23 in the English Channel, damaging three other merchant ships and two British destroyers.)

King In Raid Shelter

For 10 minutes, during one air battle, King George VI took refuge in an air raid shelter on the south coast, where he was conducting a tour of naval establishments.

The monarch had completed an inspection of recruits when the air raid warning was sounded. While the men and boys marched off in orderly fashion, the King, accompanied by Admiral Sir William James, motored to a nearby shelter.

The marching men cheered as the monarch drove slowly past.

Later King George boarded Dutch, Polish, Norwegian and French warships and later entrained for London.

When he emerged from the shelter after the Nazi raiders passed, the King was smoking a cigarette. He calmly asked what direction the raiders had taken and watched R. A. F. planes flying to intercept them. Then he said:

"I think we might go on now."

and Southern Indiana tomorrow Thunderstorms in each state were to follow in the wake of the heat.

Showers, thunderstorms and cooler likewise were forecast farther east, to arrive either today or tomorrow in such states as New York, Vermont, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

Michigan, where a four-year high of 96 was equalled at Detroit yesterday, likewise was to feel more moderate temperatures sometime today. The state had one of the highest death tolls in the country, with 26 victims of drowning and 12 dead of prostration.

ARGENTINA IN CONFLICT OVER SEC. HULL'S PLAN

ted by Argentina calls on the Havana conference to approve a proposition that European possessions in the Americas should determine their own destinies.

Significantly, however, the Argentine resolution excepts European-owned islands which are deemed an essential part of American countries, such as the Falkland islands, where the Argentine government does not recognize British sovereignty.

While the United States-Argentine divergence appeared clear-cut, American diplomats in Havana expressed belief that Melo will be "more cooperative" after he has succeeded in convincing smaller Latin-American nations of Argentina's prestige.

When the plenary session of the conference met late yesterday, Hull, after waiting in the conference hall for 40 minutes, walked out and asked Laurence Duggan, chief of the Latin-American division of the United States department, to represent him.

Later a spokesman for Hull said the secretary of state had been forced to return to his hotel office because of urgent State department business, nature of which was not specified.

of this act, the president shall have no authority to induct persons into the land and naval forces of the United States until congress shall hereafter appropriate funds specifically for such purpose."

To Oppose Bill

Although Johnson approved this section he emphasized that he will probably vote against the bill. He is one of a number of senators who believe that adequate man power for the defense program can be obtained through voluntary enlistment.

These developments occurred as the committee neared completion of the bill for registration of men between the ages of 18 and 65 for selective military training and home defense service.

The House Military Affairs committee, holding hearings on the bill, scheduled as today's witnesses Mayor LaGuardia of New York; Norman Thomas, presidential nominee of the Socialist party, and Owen D. Young, industrialist.

robbery which, according to bank officials, netted him $3410 and resulted in the shooting of Ray E. Gruber, 51, assistant cashier of the bank.

Report Confession

Bishop was escorted by police to "the scene of the crime" and according to officials, is reported to have made a complete confession early this morning.

Details of the arrest and confession of Bishop were not immediately available but it is believed he was taken by authorities first to the Hershey Training school barracks and then brought to Harrisburg.

Gruber, assistant cashier at the Hummelstown bank, was seriously wounded in the hold-up, when the bandit, concealing his identity by covering his face with adhesive tape, stalked into the bank and opened fire with a sawed-off shotgun as Gruber was complying with demands to turn over the bank's cash.

Mrs. Carroll C. Porter, teller, and Miss Mary Kuntz, stenographer, were with Gruber at the time but were not harmed.

Because the Hummelstown institution is a national bank, F.B.I. agents were immediately summoned and assigned to the case. Authorities at the time described the hold-up as the work of an amateur. The robbery, staged by the lone bandit, occurred at noon, June 21.

Paroled Murderer

Harrisburg, July 26.—William Jennings Bishop, 43, Palmyra, accused of robbing the nearby Hummelstown National bank of $3410 in a daring daylight raid on June 21 and shooting an employe, is a paroled murderer once sentenced to die in the electric chair, authorities announced today.

Police said the accused man, a stone-quarry worker, was released from prison November 25, 1938, and placed on parole for life. A death sentence lodged against him was commuted in 1926 to life imprisonment.

Authorities revealed that $1007.27 of the loot was recovered from Bishop's home, where he lived with his wife and 19-year-old son.

Note to shackled France: The overpowered must quit, but brave men can die like men rather than fight against allies who still fight for them.

German quarters confidently expect that Turkey will soon renounce all her old ties with Britain.

"England," the spokesman declared, "is no longer able to mix in or disturb affairs on continental Europe."

In this connection, great importance was attached to negotiations under way at Salzburg between German and Rumanian statesmen which were officially described as a "blitz" confab. The meaning was that problems affecting Rumania and her neighbors, particularly Hungary, would be solved in a lightning manner.

Bulgarian delegates are due at Salzburg tomorrow for similar conversations, while a Slovakian mission will arrive tomorrow. Informed German quarters indicated no one should be surprised if complete settlement of all Balkan problems is announced over the week-end. Both Bulgaria and Hungary have claims on Rumania which the Reich apparently recognizes.

REPORT TURKEY MASSES TROOPS

isters to Salzburg to hear Berlin's last word on the Balkan tangle, it aroused keen interest.

However, since Turkey was reported to have signed a new trade agreement with Grmany yesterday, the general trend was to regard the strengthened frontier forces merely as a step to forestall any possible threat.

Newport Garden Club Guests Of Local Club On "Garden Tour"

Ole Sol's rays didn't hinder flower enthusiasts from making a garden tour of New Castle, on Thursday morning and afternoon, the group comprised of twenty-four members of the Newport Garden Club of Youngstown, O., who journeyed here as guests of the local East Side Garden Club. Sharing as hostesses, who drove out on the New Bedford road, Route 422, to meet the Ohioans, were president, Mrs. Leonard Cramer; Mrs. Harry Sturdevant, Mrs. J. Albert Wilson and Miss Della Glenn.

The foursome conducted their guests to the home of Miss Pearl Atkinson on the New Bedford road, whose garden they strolled about, and enjoyed a period of "getting acquainted."

From there, they were taken to the gardens at the John E. Hodge home, Wallace avenue, where the beauty of the flowers added to the enjoyment of the day.

The next home visited was that of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Rentz, Edison avenue, the grandeur of their floral gardens bringing forth aw's and oh's with the wide variety of exquisite and unusual specimens in bloom. Mr. Rentz presented each guest with a package of rare seeds, for planting in their personal gardens.

Next came a visit to the Charles Wettich residence, and a period being spent in their gardens, followed by sojourn in the gardens of Miss May Hoyt. Miss Hoyt conducted the group personally about the premises, showing the many beautiful flowers in bloom, and her rock garden in a natural hill setting.

The garden of Charles G. Lindner, Euclid avenue, was the next center of attraction, with Mrs. Harry Sturdevant taking charge, due to the absence of Mr. Lindner. He is at present in New York City attending the Men's Garden Clubs of America, of which organization, he has been elected a director. A visit to the J. W. Anderson home on Highland avenue, concluded the garden tour, the group was taken on a tour of the Shenango Pottery China Shoppe on Grant street, where china dishes, famous the world over, are displayed.

Luncheon at The Elks club, served at 12:30 o'clock, brought a restful period, the group being entertained by their hostesses in a most gracious manner.

Afterwards, the visitors continued on their way to see more local homes, and found the cool gardens of S. L. McCleary on North Shenango street, an ideal retreat from the hot sun. Here, the women tarried awhile, taking in the sights of the flower beds.

BRITAIN PAYING FOR DEFENSE TO THE LIMIT

WHEN Sir John Simon presented his enormous war tax bill to the British people last April experts said it was still too small for the mounting expenses.

Yet the new British budget meant expending half the total income of the nation for war purposes. Now comes Sir Kingsley Wood's emergency budget, which will take 60 per cent of the national income for what may truly be termed defense. For, as the Chancellor of the Exchequer says, Britain is now fighting for her life.

It has been reported that after his recent peace offer at pistol point Hitler was awaiting the imposition of this additional tax burden on the British people before attempting his invasion.

The intimation was that he hoped the British would revolt against any further hardships and clamor for peace, however harsh the terms.

If Hitler really cherished any such hope he must have received a rude jolt from the general British reaction. Parliament, the press and the public have indeed found fault with the new tax program, but on the ground that it is not adequate to the nation's emergency.

The general desire to make even greater financial sacrifices is strengthened by the fear of inflation, since the extra revenue from taxes will be only a drop in the bucket compared to the huge additional sums that will have to be borrowed.

Raising of the basic income tax rate from 37½ to 42½ per cent will weigh heavily upon wage-earners and small-salaried folk, while surtaxes running up to 90 per cent in connection with normal levies will leave little to those in the higher brackets.

Add to this new burden the increased sales taxes on necessities as well as luxuries, and the total load might almost be described as crushing were it not for the spirit of the people.

Our own nation's income is now figured at 70 billions. So if we were called upon to make such financial sacrifices as the British people are undergoing we should be spending 42 billions this year on defense alone. But "all that a man hath will he give for his life," and, in the final struggle Britain now faces, even greater financial sacrifices may be demanded. Apparently they will be forthcoming.

LET'S BUILD 'EM LIKE THIS ONE

The Ark Royal has been attacked again.

Repeatedly the Germans broadcast that the famous British airplane carrier had been sunk.

Now the Italians announce that they have been successful in a bombing attack on the big ship.

Just how the ship always bobs up again is a mystery, but it is evident that she bears all the character of immortality.

President Roosevelt should be informed at once of the strange secret of shipbuilding embodied in this vessel. So should Secretary Frank Knox, so should Wendell Willkie, who seems destined to be the next president; so should any one else who may in any way be entrusted with the work of preparing our Navy for defense.

For if we build ships like this one, no enemy can put them definitely out of commission; they will always rise from the bottom of the sea.

There is one serious truth in the whole business, however. That is, little that comes from the propaganda factories of warring nations can be taken at face until it is authenticated by less biased sources.

AMBROSIA ON THE COB

When the crickets have fully launched their orchestral din the season of corn on the cob bursts into full flower. While nature, gaudily adorned, is slightly dotty with the heat, while the summer girl pridefully displays her semi-Ethiopian complexion down to an indefinite boundary line well below her shoulder blades, the serious-minded majority of mankind grows ecstatic at intervals to good purpose. For at the doubly welcome dinner hour, it experiences its highest earthly happiness, emulating its little brothers, the rodents, by gnawing tenderly toothsome ears of Golden Bantam, Golden Sweet, Evergreen, Country Gentleman or what you will, sublimely ignoring the rivulets of melted butter trickling from its composite chin.

The practical citizen takes suitable precautions in anticipation of that rapturous time. Waving decadent table manners haughtily aside, he tucks a corner of his napkin into his collar before lifting from his plate a bit gingerly with both hands, a steaming, but not quite red hot, ear of corn, after having annointed it with butter—as lovingly as copiously—and added a judicious sprinkling of salt. Then he bites valorously into the cylindrical treasure and engages in rapturous champings and in sighing expressive of paradisiacal content. As the enchanted moments go dancing by, the dreamy-eyed diner builds, with denuded cobs piled reverently one by one upon his plate, a monument to Elysian joy.

Corn on the cob is the quintessence of summer. It is refined sunshine and distilled dew. It embodied the daintiness of rose-tinted dawns and the mystery of scented, starlit, breeze-haunted midnights. Some, professing aversion to the buttering of their countenances from ear to ear in feasting with decent enthusiasm on that choicest of viands, merely nibble at the noble provender or even stonily resist its virtuous enticements. All such degenerate Americans surely are unworthy to practic the great midsummer table rite of this sovereign, corn-fed people.

Mussolini seems to be identifying himself as the talking half of the Rome-Berlin axis.

It is easy to tell when a woman's weight is exactly right. She is hoping to lose only five pounds.

There are now two classes of citizens: Those who don't know what is happening and those who know and can't help it.

Judging by some of the things Petain is doing now, the voice may be the voice of France but the hand is the hand of Adolf.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

COUNTRY VISIT HOLDS PERIL

In case you go with your tot or runabout to visit on the farm, he may face some special hazards. Within a short while he will begin exploring. If there is an open spring, cistern or well, he will soon find it, probably fall into it. Even the brook may be perilous to him, especially after a shower.

The city tot or runabout is inclined to run behind the farm horses which, when frightened by him, may kick him. In the barn are other special dangers such as the hayfork in operation, fanning (screening) machine, fodder chopper and the like; and the mow hole down which hay is dropped. The barn, very familiar to the farm boy as a place to romp, is dangerous to the city child ignorant of its perils.

Common Perils

The new city child on the farm may observe no caution about such farm machinery as the mower, reaper or hay rake. While the farmer mows with the scythe about the buildings, the young child may toddle after him where he can easily be seriously injured. It is well to keep the tot and runabout under strict supervision when there is cutting of grass or hay near by. Hay riggings may be hazardous, especially if the upright posts are not held fast. Especially to a city child sitting on a load of hay while the wagon moves is very dangerous.

In the average farm home is a gun. Know where it is and see that your child has no access to it. Whereas the farm child of teen age may have learned to handle a gun with care, this gun will doubtless be perilous to the city child of any age. Country children visiting in the city will be less trained than their city cousins against the hazards of the street.

Long-Suffering Farmer

I wish that city parents visiting with their children in the homes of their country relatives would be more considerate of their hosts and hostesses. Many country folk are shamefully imposed upon by their city friends, especially by ill-trained visiting children.

What can be a worse pest on the farm than a badly disciplined brat visiting there with his parents? I have fellow feeling for grandparents who have to tolerate such little treasures.

Water Hazards

It is fine for children to learn early to swim, but the learning should go on with safety. Visiting children will take risks to show off and will often pretend to have swimming skill they do not possess. There is often more danger from disease from polluted ponds, lakes and streams than from drowning. Boys from eight to fourteen are disposed to venture out into deep water on unsafe rafts and scows. They need to be checked.

In all these problems, safety presupposes adequate control and habits of obedience. Some children will lose their lives this summer simply because they had never learned the alphabet of obedience. And a few children will have to die because their parents have been led astray by the false prophets of no restraint.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Do you think a good rule with tantrums is to ignore them, work on yourself and manage your own emotions?

A. I do. To illustrate, an observer writes: "While visiting here the child (two years old) started a tantrum because she wanted orange slices and her mother was preparing her orange juice. I asked my sister to act as you advise with regard to tantrums and it took about 15 minutes of crying, kicking and complaining on the floor, but at the end she sat in her chair of her own accord and drank every bit of the orange juice."

PROPER WAR

If war must be, I choose the kind
That battles littleness of mind,
And fights with courage and with skill
All still unconquered forms of ill.
I choose that sort of patient strife
That copes with all the foes of life
And seeks with courage and with grace
To make the world a better place.

How long must angry men employ
Weapons to slaughter and destroy?
When will they put this folly by
Of sending out their best to die
Instead of teaching youth to live?
Their talents to the world to give?
When will they learn one day of breath
Is better than an age of death?

Poverty, ignorance, disease!
Why pay to heed to foes like these
And let them riot rampant still
The while themselves they try to kill?
Why, as the years go racing by,
Insist on training boys to die
In might's unholy form of strife
Instead of fitting them for life?

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:22. Sun rises tomorrow 4:51.

A Titusville woman was seriously injured when she fell off a load of hay she was helping her husband haul to the barn. That's life on a farm to a lot of women.

It's none of our business, girls, but are you doing anything about Leap Year?

And don't forget Mr. Willkie will write his own speeches. That will be another bill of expense the people will not have to pay.

PRAYER FOR AN OFFICE GIRL

Let me sleep late in the Arms of morning.
Come not to my room bearing
Tidings of hours of drudgery.
Though dawn clutches at my window
Let me sleep.

I shall draw a wordless blanket
Around my soul,
Adjusting a pillow of no dreams;
Let the sun make staggering mounds
Of heat on the hills—
Let the moon come dragging one
Bright star after it.
Let sleep deceive me with
A warm sense of death.
Sanctify my room, by calling me not,
Time is not for me.
Let me fast from the feast of work
Knowing no food but sleep.

Of course you have often heard of the "Lousey Deal". Some have changed it to the "New Deal".

VERY CHEERLESS

A woman, who has been ill for several months, quite naturally has many callers. A majority of them, she says, have their own ills to talk about.

They won't let me quit thinking about aches and pains," said the sick woman. "I wish my callers would talk about pleasant things instead of telling me how bad they feel."

A GOOD CHANCE

The husband and wife were driving along the highway and the wife was gazing at the scenery. Particularly was she looking at a peculiar cloud formation overhead.

"Isn't that a wonderful cloud effect?" she asked. "Wouldn't you just love to be up there sitting on one of them?"

The husband pulled to the side of the road and applied the brakes.

"I'm getting out here," he said. "You go on and drive. With all these wild drivers on the road, you're sure to get your wish."

It is claimed that one gets all out of life that he puts into it. This don't hold good when you sell a house now, however.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Lucile is a beautiful girl but her mother continually weeps on my shoulder because the dear child lacks holding power over the boys who visit her.

A week end at their home has enabled me to diagnose Lucile's case. Saturday night she had a crowd in for an informal dance. Every time I heard her talking to any boy she was either boasting to him about the attentions she received from some other boy or was praising some absent swain. On her boudoir mantel she has a row of framed pictures of handsome youths and it was a part of her strategy to invite one boy after another to come in and see them.

Such tactics foster either resentment or discouragement. And when Lucille acquires wisdom she will make it a rule never to play one man against another. She will know that the only man whom she should discuss with a marriageable male is--himself.

Reader's Questions Answered

Question: I am going to entertain my club at a bridge-luncheon. I have a lovely garden. Could you suggest a way I might serve my luncheon and have my bridge out there?—Hostess.

Answer: Place your bridge tables on your lawn to be used for both the luncheon and the bridge game following it. If you have any of those huge bright colored umbrellas, by all means place one at each table to protect your guests from the sun and glare. Have your tables set and ready for luncheon to be served when your guests arrive. After your luncheon dishes and tablecloths have have been cleared away your servant should bring out the cards (two packs for each table) a score pad, a pencil, a box of cigarettes, matches and an ash tray for each table; the last mentioned provided your guests have use for such. Have on a side table a pitcher of ice water or lemonade that thirsty guests may help themselves whenever they they have the urge to drink. If you cannot conveniently do this have your servant in the midst of the game, serve these liquid refreshments from the kitchen. If the weather is doubtful you will be forced to have your festivities indoors. Be sure to have your house in readiness for such an emergency.

The story is told of the editor who complained that one of his rural correspondents failed to get names in his stories.

Roosevelt Picks Wallace As Successor
Believe F. D. R. Was Looking To Future
Felt Wallace Was Most Capable In Field

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 26.—President Roosevelt is supposed to have picked Henry A. Wallace for second place on his ticket, not only because he wanted the latter as his running mate, but with a view to getting him into the White House.

This doesn't mean that F. D. thinks he can't live through another term in the executive mansion. Neither does it necessarily mean that, if elected, he intends to resign, provided world conditions become less critical than they are at present—though that story, without any confirmation, is current likewise.

What it does mean, according to capital gossip, is that the president has Wallace sized up as the best man to take over the New Deal leadership four years hence at the latest—to be president himself, whether as a Democrat, a Republican, a New Dealer or whatnot being of no particular consequence; his politico-economic philosophy rating as the essential consideration.

It's a yarn which can't be verified, but it's obvious, anyway, that F. D. really does have a very high opinion of his agriculture secretary, now probably retiring from a cabinet to go nationally a-campaigning. Otherwise he wouldn't have forced him, as he did, upon so conspicuously unwilling a convention.

Ickes and Hopkins

One wouldn't think that such ripsnorting New Dealers as Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes and Commerce Secretary Harry Hopkins would fancy the idea of having Wallace presidentially preferred to one of themselves.

However, the fact remains that Henry actually does discuss New Deal policies more scientifically than the average believer in them. "Harry the Hop", as he's widely known in Washington, has all the zeal in the world, but he isn't much of a student. He asserts but he doesn't argue. Ickes is an ardent believer but he doesn't tell "why" very clearly. A lot of New Dealers classify similarly. So do plenty of "antis".

Wallace reasons. Some of it's wrong, possibly, but it sounds logical.

In all likelihood, President Roosevelt appreciates this, and maybe he deems Henry a heavier intellectual weight than most of his associates.

He unquestionably is, personally extremely fond of Harry Hopkins, who virtually lives at the White House, but Harry isn't good presidential material. Ickes might be a little better, but even he hasn't Wallace's substance.

Well, Harold and Harry show no signs of being disgruntled, anyway. Some other New Dealers are outright howling.

A Good Organization

Incidentally Henry has, in the agriculture department, a first-rate organization, which perhaps can be made politically useful.

Assuming he quits his cabinet post, Henry won't have it directly under his thumb. Nevertheless, a corps of agents, scattered throughout the country, are beholden to him, and of course to the administration generally. Henry's in close touch with them, naturally.

Moreover, an organization's particularly important to the New Deal ticket just now because of Chairman Farley's retirement from the directorship of the national committee.

That that committee can maintain its efficiency with "big Jim" out of it is a decided uncertainty.

If it degenerates, Wallace's setup will be immensely helpful.

Four Years Ahead

Assuming that Washington guessers are right, Henry practically can be regarded as running vice presidentially for president four years ahead.

To be sure, he'll have to be vice-presidentially elected first.

And then, in 1944 (if he's vice presidentially elected this time) he'll have to be presidentially elected.

There are a good many "ifs" about it.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

by The Baltimore Sun (Copyright, 1940)

As It Is Planned

WASHINGTON, July 26.

THE character of the campaign by which it is proposed to re-elect Mr. Roosevelt, for a third term has already been indicated by his aides. It is important to understand it because fundamentally it is as fraudulent as was the campaign for the nomination.

THE first intimation came from Mrs. Roosevelt in her speech at the convention in which she sweetly—suggested that if Mr. Roosevelt should accept (apparently she did not know he already had selected his running mate and for three days had been directing the "draft" forces over the telephone) others would have to campaign for him as he would be too engrossed with his job to leave the desk. That is the idea. Since then it has been elaborated upon and expanded by journalistic reflectors of the Administration until it is completely plain.

THE effort is to "lift" the campaign to so high a plane that all the New Deal sins both of omission and commission, will be ignored and the third term issue banned as a topic of campaign discussion. The overpowering importance to us of what happens to England and the overwhelming necessity for national unity in the matter of defense are expected to absorb all other issues ideas and questions. There is to be no room for a debate over "minor matters" which in the present state of the world are held to be no longer of importance.

IT is easy to see how complete acceptance of that will fit in with the third term plans. Mr. Roosevelt will present a picture of an overburdened President who without thought of politics and no concern about the election, is giving himself wholly to grappling with the grave problems created by the Hitler menace. And while he thus poses, the immense weight of the Administration will be exerted to continue him in office. Huge sums pouring out of the Federal Treasury in all directions will have the effect of a compaign fund and the vast publicity forces of the Administration, some paid and some unpaid, all attempt to smear the President's opponent.

AND if the opponent—or those who favor him—hit back—if they point out the fakery of the draft; the utter rot of the Indispensable Man theory: the blow at the American system involved in a third term, the havoc which the New Deal has

MODERN EDUCATION

The Los Angeles Times has a columnist by the name of Ed. Ainsworth, and every now and then he writes a gem. I read one the other day that was particularly good and I think it should be broadcast. I give it here:

"Everybody but the Egyptian Sphinx and a man with a lock-jaw on the ground floor of the hospital in Squeedunk, Kansas, now has given advice to the graduating classes from the schools and colleges of America. When I go trudging up the golden stairs and arrive without much hope of being let in, at the Pearly Gates, I'm going to say to St. Peter: 'Sir, I've led a pretty useless life. You don't need to feel badly about sending me down the greased slide at the back door. I've been a columnist and I know what I deserve. But before you tie the 'To Hell—No Detours' sign on my asbestos gimp, let me say as a parting word in my defense that I never offered advice in June, 1940, to any graduates anywhere in the United States. Now give me the works.'

"Of course, St. Peter might reply, 'Well, I've seen all kinds of folks come up here, but I never yet met an English-speaking male who had been out of high school more than three years who didn't give advice to graduates in June. What happened? Did you lose your voice? And then I shall answer, "No, Your Saintship, it wasn't that, it was the self-expression. All graduates now are the products of self-expression and they don't need advice from anybody. That's why I kept still. I wanted to give advice just like anybody else. But every time I looked at a self-expression graduate the words just froze in my throat and my conscience tied a tin can on the tail of my ego.

"'You see, St. Peter, you don't know much about self-expression up here. From what I've heard, your people just go around flapping their wings and adjusting their crowns and being happy all the time. But in our schools we specialize in self-expression, all the time from the moment the prattling youngster toddles into the kindergarten and decides for himself to specialize in digging gopher holes until that supreme moment when some guy in a four-cornered blacke wrought in our national life and the appalling state of our national finances as well as our national defence—if they do any of those things, there is a group of New Dealish writers—some of whom are on the pay roll—all set to reprove and rebuke; to assert that it is a dreadful thing to discuss such "trivialities" to insist that Mr. Willkie is not alive to the tragic realites of a changed world.

THAT is the game and from the Roosevelt standpoint it is extremely clever politics. It is in fact, the only way his more acute friends think he can operate a successful campaign. And they have thought so from the start. Its advantages are obvious. It would delegate all domestic issues to the rear and stress only questions of defense and foreign policy, on which there is practically no difference between the candidates. The New Dealers Dealers could ask for nothing better. The most effective way to support Mr. Roosevelt's third term attempt is to join in this effort to "lift" the fight to this plane and void what in a "changed world" are called trivial matters.

IT is—from the third term angle—a grand idea, but it is not apt to jell. For one thing the fraudulent nature of Roosevelt's "draft" and the extent of which he connived in it were so obvious that a Roosevelt pose now of not thinking of the selection just would not register. No one would believe it. It would be scented as another piece of fakery. For a second thing, contention that the third-term issue or the Federal finances or the Messianic complex of the President or the general New Deal philosophy or the incompetency and confusion of the New Deal regime are too trivial to discuss—that contention is too apparently absurd.

EVERYONE will admit that this is a changed world. It isn't necessary to point that out nor to explain that the problems of natural defense and help to England are of transcendant importance. But it would be foolish indeed, to permit that fact to obscure every domestic issue and play into the hands of a crowd intent upon using the international situation as the instrument for smashing American traditions, and perpetuating itself in power. It will neither slow down our defense preparations nor weaken our foreign policy to point out the mess which has made of national affairs by a reckless and confused regime which has brought the country to the brink of bankruptcy, and as the "draft" showed will be sort to any degree of false pretense to hold on.

ON the contrary, it would seem vital to impress the people with the facts so that in the great struggle ahead our foreign as well as domestic affairs may be in more competent and dependable hands. It was pointed out long before the convention that if Mr. Roosevelt tried for a third term, the fact that he was a candidate inevitably would saturate his every act before election with the suspicion of third-term politics. It was pointed out that that would be bad for the country—and it is very bad. But, having shoved aside that consideration and "drafted" himself, it becomes ridiculous for Mr. Roosevelt to assume an attitude of aloofness and for his friends to insist that, as he has "no thought of politics" the third term should not be discussed; that only international questions are real; that domestic questions including the third term issue, are unreal.

THAT is worse than slick politics—it is an attempt to conduct a campaign behind a cloak of false nonpartisanship. It is not going to help national defense, or anything else, to cooperate in it. And it is not likely to succeed. If Mr. Willkie cannot expose the hum-buggery of this effort to "lift the campaign" above domestic questions, then he isn't the man his friends have been saying. As a matter of fact, it will not take much exposure. It is so patently false that it is incredible that many will be deceived.

hat with a tassel in his eye, hands the self-expression graduate a hunk of dead sheep and sends him forth to conquer a shovel handle. We call it education.

"'Now, don't misunderstand me. Self-expression may be a fine thing. But it sort of robs me of my speech when I think about trying to offer fatherly counsel to somebody who, of his own free will, learned how to build a Comanche wigwam in the first grade or create a replica of an Oklahoma storm cellar all of his own before he could say, 'Misissippi.' That's the kind of awe-inspiring things self-expression pupils have done for years in our schools, Your Saintship. What kind of advice can you offer a Phi Beta Kappa who learned how to sew rosette buttonholes in the third grade—all on his own hook, mind you—when he can't look up a library book because he never learned the alphabet?

"'What right would I have—a poor, benighted soul who learned how to read with letters and to add 2 and 2 by the time I was six—in standing up for a self-expression graduate and saying, 'Now I understand that you have built a scale model showing it was impossible for George Washington to have chopped down the cherry tree as all those old-fogey histories say, but anyway, I'd like to offer the suggestion that truth and honesty are the best policies.' The self-expression graduate would curl up his lip and say, 'I never learned that when I was exercising my freedom of choice and demonstrating that it is possible to sleep through sixteen years of school.'

"'So, St. Peter, no graduation platform echoed to my words of wisdom. No advice was offered free in my column. I just kept my trap shut and watched the self-expression graduates express themselves in words of one-syllable and show their clay models of the choo-choo. Self-expression in our colleges now actually has reached such a high plane it is considered degrading to defend one's country. After associating with these self-made intellectual wizards you can't scare me, sir, with a mere devil. Go on and start me on the down grade to Tophet. I can stand anything now'."

wrought in our national life and the appalling state of our national finances as well as our national defence—if they do any of those things, there is a group of New Dealish writers—some of whom are on the pay roll—all set to reprove and rebuke; to assert that it is a dreadful thing to discuss such "trivialities" to insist that Mr. Willkie is not alive to the tragic realites of a changed world.

THAT is the game and from the Roosevelt standpoint it is extremely clever politics. It is in fact, the only way his more acute friends think he can operate a successful campaign. And they have thought so from the start. Its advantages are obvious. It would delegate all domestic issues to the rear and stress only questions of defense and foreign policy, on which there is practically no difference between the candidates. The New Dealers Dealers could ask for nothing better. The most effective way to support Mr. Roosevelt's third term attempt is to join in this effort to "lift" the fight to this plane and void what in a "changed world" are called trivial matters.

IT is—from the third term angle—a grand idea, but it is not apt to jell. For one thing the fraudulent nature of Roosevelt's "draft" and the extent of which he connived in it were so obvious that a Roosevelt pose now of not thinking of the selection just would not register. No one would believe it. It would be scented as another piece of fakery. For a second thing, contention that the third-term issue or the Federal finances or the Messianic complex of the President or the general New Deal philosophy or the incompetency and confusion of the New Deal regime are too trivial to discuss—that contention is too apparently absurd.

EVERYONE will admit that this is a changed world. It isn't necessary to point that out nor to explain that the problems of natural defense and help to England are of transcendant importance. But it would be foolish indeed, to permit that fact to obscure every domestic issue and play into the hands of a crowd intent upon using the international situation as the instrument for smashing American traditions, and perpetuating itself in power. It will neither slow down our defense preparations nor weaken our foreign policy to point out the mess which has made of national affairs by a reckless and confused regime which has brought the country to the brink of bankruptcy, and as the "draft" showed will be sort to any degree of false pretense to hold on.

ON the contrary, it would seem vital to impress the people with the facts so that in the great struggle ahead our foreign as well as domestic affairs may be in more competent and dependable hands. It was pointed out long before the convention that if Mr. Roosevelt tried for a third term, the fact that he was a candidate inevitably would saturate his every act before election with the suspicion of third-term politics. It was pointed out that that would be bad for the country—and it is very bad. But, having shoved aside that consideration and "drafted" himself, it becomes ridiculous for Mr. Roosevelt to assume an attitude of aloofness and for his friends to insist that, as he has "no thought of politics" the third term should not be discussed; that only international questions are real; that domestic questions including the third term issue, are unreal.

THAT is worse than slick politics—it is an attempt to conduct a campaign behind a cloak of false nonpartisanship. It is not going to help national defense, or anything else, to cooperate in it. And it is not likely to succeed. If Mr. Willkie cannot expose the hum-buggery of this effort to "lift the campaign" above domestic questions, then he isn't the man his friends have been saying. As a matter of fact, it will not take much exposure. It is so patently false that it is incredible that many will be deceived.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

hat with a tassel in his eye, hands the self-expression graduate a hunk of dead sheep and sends him forth to conquer a shovel handle. We call it education.

"'Now, don't misunderstand me. Self-expression may be a fine thing. But it sort of robs me of my speech when I think about trying to offer fatherly counsel to somebody who, of his own free will, learned how to build a Comanche wigwam in the first grade or create a replica of an Oklahoma storm cellar all of his own before he could say, 'Mississippi.' That's the kind of awe-inspiring things self-expression pupils have done for years in our schools, Your Saintship. What kind of advice can you offer a Phi Beta Kappa who learned how to sew rosette buttonholes in the third grade—all on his own hook, mind you—when he can't look up a library book because he never learned the alphabet?

"'What right would I have—a poor, benighted soul who learned how to read with letters and to add 2 and 2 by the time I was six—in standing up for a self-expression graduate and saying, 'Now I understand that you have built a scale model showing it was impossible for George Washington to have chopped down the cherry tree as all those old-fogey histories say, but anyway, I'd like to offer the suggestion that truth and honesty are the best policies.' The self-expression graduate would curl up his lip and say, 'I never learned that when I was exercising my freedom of choice and demonstrating that it is possible to sleep through sixteen years of school.'

"'So, St. Peter, no graduation platform echoed to my words of wisdom. No advice was offered free in my column. I just kept my trap shut and watched the self-expression graduates express themselves in words of one-syllable and show their clay models of the choo-choo. Self-expression in our colleges now actually has reached such a high plane it is considered degrading to defend one's country. After associating with these self-made intellectual wizards you can't scare me, sir, with a mere devil. Go on and start me on the down grade to Tophet. I can stand anything now'."

Americans use more than four times as much electric power per capita as the rest of the world.

PLACED ON PROBATION

H. V. West up on a charge of false pretense, was sentenced today by Judges W. Walter Braham and Thomas W. Dickey to make restitution of $600 and placed upon probation for two years. It was alleged that West swindled a local business man out of money to back a new design of water cooler.

"RETONGA WAS FINE FOR THREE OF US," SHE SAYS

Well Known Resident Tells Of Happy Experience And Gives Famous Medicine Her Unqualified Endorsement.

Declaring that Retonga not only brought her blessed relief from sufferings that had resisted all other medicines tried, but also proved equally successful in the cases of her husband and her father, Mrs. Mary A. Neidhardt, widely known resident of 708 Avery St., today added her grateful voluntary endorsement to the scores Retonga has received in Pittsburgh.

"My husband and my father got such splendid results from Retonga that I decided to see if it would help me, for constipation seemed to fill me with toxic wastes until I was often in such severe pain through my arms and legs I just had to cry," states Mrs. Neidhardt. "Hot pads seemed to be the only thing that would give me even temporary relief. I was nervous, my food disagreed with me, and I felt terribly run down and weak. My housework tired me out and made my muscles sore.

"Retonga helped me from the first and soon brought me the relief everything else I tried had failed to bring. I do my housework easily now, my digestion does not bother me, and all my pains and aches are relieved. My bowels are regular, I sleep fine, and I feel like a different woman. We found Retonga a wonderful medicine."

"RETONGA WAS FINE FOR THREE OF US," SHE SAYS

Well Known Resident Tells Of Happy Experience And Gives Famous Medicine Her Unqualified Endorsement.

Declaring that Retonga not only brought her blessed relief from sufferings that had resisted all other medicines tried, but also proved equally successful in the cases of her husband and her father, Mrs. Mary A. Neidhardt, widely known resident of 708 Avery St., today added her grateful voluntary endorsement to the scores Retonga has received in Pittsburgh.

"My husband and my father got such splendid results from Retonga that I decided to see if it would help me, for constipation seemed to fill me with toxic wastes until I was often in such severe pain through my arms and legs I just had to cry," states Mrs. Neidhardt. "Hot pads seemed to be the only thing that would give me even temporary relief. I was nervous, my food disagreed with me, and I felt terribly run down and weak. My housework tired me out and made my muscles sore.

"Retonga helped me from the first and soon brought me the relief everything else I tried had failed to bring. I do my housework easily now, my digestion does not bother me, and all my pains and aches are relieved. My bowels are regular, I sleep fine, and I feel like a different woman. We found Retonga a wonderful medicine."

TINTED LENSES and SUN GLASSES

Protect your eyes from glare this summer by having an extra pair ground accordingly to your prescription in a medium green or smoke color. Or buy a good pair of fitover glasses. Never wear cheap pressed sun glasses, because the many flaws in the glass will cause eye strain instead of giving relief from glare.

We have a large selection of optically perfect sun glasses and will adjust them carefully to your features.

FORMER HILLSVILLE RESIDENT IS DEAD

Funeral services for George W. Miller, aged 76, a former resident of Hillsville, will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock (D. S. T.) from his late home in East McKeesport. Mr. Miller passed away at his home on Tuesday.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, three sons, three granddaughters and one sister Mrs. Fanny White of Columbiana, O.

The strongest race is the one never able to pronounce the names of places devastated by war.

Weighing Consequences

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for July 28 is Proverbs 1:7-10; Isaiah 5:11, 12, 18-23; Galatians 6:7-9, the Golden Text being I Timothy 4:8—"Godliness is profitable for all things, having promise of the life which now is, and of that which is to come").

FATHERS and mothers of all times have been earnestly concerned about the conduct of their children, giving them advice and striving to guide them in the ways of temperance and right living. Back in 1,000 B. C., Solomon, Son of David, king of Israel, said: "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge; but fools despise wisdom and instruction.

"My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother.

"For they shall be an ornament of grace unto thy head, and chains about thy neck." To the mind of an Israelite no badge of glory was higher in worth than the garland worn around the head or the gold chain about the neck, which were worn by kings and favorites of kings.

Then Solomon makes this earnest direct appeal: "My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not."

How To Make the Young Strong

How to make our young people strong in the conviction that "in righteousness there is strength," and to say "No" to the often attractive "sinners that entice" them, is the problem. To bring them up in the "fear of the Lord," as Solomon says, and to set them good examples of temperate, spiritual living, is the best that any parents can do.

The misery that comes from intemperance is suggested in Isaiah 5:11, where he says:

"Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that tarry late into the night, till wine inflame them!

"And the harp and the lute, the tabret and the pipe, and wine, are in their feasts; but they regard not the work of Jehovah, neither have they considered the operation of his hands."

Woe surely follows those who do not obey the laws of God in life. Nothing is surer than punishment for the drunkard and wastrel. How to make those who incline to this sort of living see to what it leads, is the problem of all parents and friends of those who are so inclined.

Tenderly, appealingly, we should, like Solomon, make the appeal: "My son, hear the instruction of thy father." "If sinners entice thee, consent thou not."

The topsyturvy thinking of those who "eat, drink and are merry," giving no thought for the consequences, is summed up for us in very striking language by Isaiah:

"Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!

"Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight!

"Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink:

"That justify the wicked for a bribe, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him."

These words surely apply to those who tempt young people to drink by telling them they are not "good sports" if they do not follow the crowd. How many young people of both sexes have fallen for that slur—to their own deep regret and the agony of their families!

In Galatians 6 Paul warns: "Be not deceived: God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man sowth, that shall he also reap."

And finally, as added encouragement to us all to live in the spirit and to cultivate the things that make for life everlasting, Paul says:

"And let us not weary in well-doing; for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not."

"Godliness is profitable for all things, having promise of the life which now is, and of that which is to come."

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

POISON IVY CAN BE PAINFUL AND TROUBLESOME

One of the most common afflictions of summer camp, among both children and adults, is poison ivy. The plant that causes this skin disease is found all over North America. Although certain localities seem to be free from it, location of the plant doesn't follow any geographical rule, and so, wherever you may be this summer, watch for it.

The poison ivy plant is small, short and green, with leaves growing in clusters of three, bright green and very shiny. This shiny surface is one of the best ways of identifying the plant; there are other plants with three leaves, but few have that typical shiny surface. The leaf is usually about two inches long, with a wide, rounded outline. Poison ivy has no flowers but in the fall the leaves become brightly colored.

I always think the plant's name "ivy" is misleading. I have known people to go looking for it on walls, fences and trees, searching for a climbing plant. It is not a climbing ivy, but a low-standing plant.

Sometimes, immediately after contact with the plant, the infected part becomes red and blisters appear. At other times these symptoms do not appear for a couple of days. These blisters enlarge and break, spreading a clear liquid over the skin. This spreads the infection. The rash is irritating and itching; scratching it serves only to spread the infection. Irritation breaks the blisters, and if some of the fluid gets under the fingernails, it may spread the infection to other parts of the body.

Like a good many of the complaints that are treated as jokes, poison ivy can be very painful and troublesome. I can recall that more than once I have found a child with his face so swollen that he couldn't see. More serious cases require a doctor's treatment. I don't know of any way of curing the rash, so I always attempt to make the patient comfortable and keep the disease from spreading.

Bathing the part in a solution of soda and water is soothing. Druggists often put up their own prescriptions for the treatment of poison ivy. Personally, I have always found if you wash the affected part with alcohol, it tends to clean up the infection and keep it from spreading. If the alcohol isn't handy, then plain soap and water is good.

People who are sensitive to poison ivy—poison oak and poison sumach have the same effect—should be careful not to go near the plant.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Slain Woman's Body Carried In Auto For Two Weeks

Crime Confessed Officers Report

Common-Law Wife Slain By California Mechanic With Ax, Police Say

BODY FOUND IN RUMBLE SEAT

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 26.—Ralph W. Griggs, 45, a mechanic, was held on a charge of murder today after confessing he killed his common-law wife with an ax and then carried the body in the back of his car for two weeks while he drove aimlessly about.

The woman was said to be Gladys Long, 36.

Griggs' arrest came after he had been trapped by a parking lot attendant and had been confronted with the body of the woman, wrapped in a quilt and stuffed in the rumble seat of his car.

Officers said Griggs was too dazed to tell them where the slaying took place.

Wanted To Leave Me

"I did it because she wanted to leave me," the thin, baldish man told police.

From his rambling story officers said they learned he apparently killed the woman about two weeks ago at a camp near Victorville, not far from Los Angeles.

"I was chopping wood," officers quoted him as saying. "So when she said she was leaving me, I hit her in the head."

His story sent detectives to a Los Angeles apartment house where they learned the couple had been living in common-law marriage for about a year until July 10, when they left with all their possessions.

Body Recovered

Late yesterday Griggs drove his car into a parking lot in the southern section of the city and asked an attendant to drive him to a certain location because he was "too drunk to drive". When the attendant took the wheel he said he noticed an unnatural odor, but Griggs told him it was a deer he had killed several days ago.

Later when Griggs had the attendant stop at another parking lot and attempt to sell the car for $5, the body was discovered.

Decision Of Local Court Affirmed In School Tuition Suit

Judge Thomas W. Dickey Upheld In Suit Involving Payment By Township

Decision of Judge Thomas W. Dickey in a suit brought by Charles R. Shearer of North Beaver township demanding that the North Beaver school district pay the tuition for Carl Shearer to the New Castle school district, while attending New Castle high school, was upheld in a decision handed down by the Superior Court on Tuesday, word has been received by Attorney Gilbert M. Long.

It was the contention in the suit that the North Beaver township high school at Mt. Jackson is a vocational high school, and that a student desiring to take an academic course could attend any other high school of his choice, regardless of the fact that an academic course could be obtained at Mt. Jackson.

Carl Shearer, son of the plaintiff attended New Castle high and during the first two years of his course, the North Beaver township school district paid his tuition, but refused to pay during the last two years. Suit was brought to collect the tuition for the last two years in the name of the New Castle School District, and a decision in favor of the plaintiff was rendered by Judge Dickey. This was upheld in the opinion just handed down.

Better Times For Farmers Are Seen By Roger Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1940—Publishers Financial Bureau

CHICAGO, July 26.—American farmers are lucky this year. Harvests in the United States and Canada will be good, while crops in most parts of the world will be under par. Prices will be only moderately higher, but farm income this Fall may be the biggest since 1930. Goods that farmers must buy will not go up much so that profits should be reasonably good. Moreover, record government benefit checks will help many a farmer over the rough spots. Only dark cloud in the outlook is the tax threat.

BABSON

As we swing by the mid-Summer mark, it is time to estimate how big crops will be, how prices will trend, how much money will find its way into farmers' pockets. Despite the fact that acreage planted this year was the fourth smallest since 1915, harvest totals will probably top the ten-year average on most important farm products. Winter and spring wheat harvests will just about hit the ten-year level, but America's major crop,—corn—although smaller than in 1939, will be bigger than the average corn harvest of the past decade. The export prospects for these grain crops is pretty bleak and I cannot see any sharp increase in prices—particularly of wheat.

Tobacco War Casualty

Indications point to larger oats, barley, flaxseed, hay, and potato crops than either in 1939 or in the average year since 1930. In fact, the only sharp reduction will be in tobacco. Acreage planted to tobacco was only 70 per cent of the 1939 figure. This crop is one of our first war casualties,—our big tobacco markets in Europe being virtually closed. Rice is benefitting from war, however, with this year's crop promising to hit a new record. Reports from Canada indicate a big wheat crop there, although bad weather from now on could change the Dominion picture radically.

The grain crops contribute only a small portion of total farm income. Dairy, poultry, and livestock are all more important in dollars and cents. For the balance of 1940, the outlook for dairymen is moderately hopeful. Milk production registered a new all-time high in June, but even so prices are running above the 1939 figures. War is helping our prices for these commodities because the important dairy countries of Denmark, Holland, and Belgium are cut off from world trade. Biggest price factor, however, is greater consumer demand due to better business, more jobs, and higher payrolls right here in the good old U.S.A. This will be the strongest support for better farm produce prices of all kinds this Fall.

Foods and Meats Up

"Eggmen" have not had an easy time of it in recent months. Prices have been running a bit better than in 1939, but feed costs have also been higher. The outlook is for smaller egg production this year than last. Feed costs will be lower than in the first half, consumer buying power will be higher—hence, moderately better profits for egg "ranchers". Poultry prospects are a mite risier, too, with a smaller batch and with fatter pay envelopes on Saturday noons. The cotton outlook is not favorable. The crop will be small, but the carry-over is terrific and our exports are practically shut off.

Cattle, sheep, and hogmen recently have not fared so well as other types of farmers. Heavy slaughterings of hogs, loss of foreign markets for hog products,, bigger shipments of lambs, have all been keeping prices of meat animals lower than a year ago. Conditions should reverse themselves before snow flies, however, as consumer demand increases and supplies—particularly of hogs—taper off. Vegetable prices have been running higher than a year ago, but they are now working lower as the new crops come to market. Supply of fruit will be smaller and prices in this particular group should continue to strengthen.

Government Checks Equal 15 Per Cent

Farm income this Fall will continue to be heavily bulwarked with government benefit payments. The percentage of total farm income from government payments has jumped from 5 per cent in 1938 to nearly 15 per cent so far this year. Altogether, Secretary Wallace has spent more than $3,000,000,000 since 1932 to put farm prices back to where they ought to be. Prices are higher, but they are still far below the parity figure. Meanwhile, prices paid for things the farmer must buy have gone up almost as much as farm prices. As a nation, we have mighty little to show for the mammoth sums spent for farm relief!

Whether the war will help the farmer or not remains to be seen. To date, its chief claim to such credit is the fact that prices are higher than a year ago. At the same time, the war has literally choked off our export markets for farm products on the Continent. The same has happened to our Continental markets for industrial goods, but our trade with South America is absorbing the industrial loss. South America, however, wants to export—not import—farm produce. England will buy more and more foodstuffs from us as the war continues. Otherwise, domestic buying power will continue to be the dictator on the majority of farm products prices.

Mid-Year Outlook Next Week

Next week, I am going to give readers my detailed forecasts for workers, employers, retailers, investors, and farmers in the second half of 1940. Briefly, for the farmer I predict increased demand for meat, eggs, fruits, moderately higher prices for most farm products, and better times for farmers between now and New Year's Day. In short, the loss in export markets should—with the exception of the grains, cotton, and tobacco—be made up by increased domestic buying!

Council's Discussion Concerns Various Violations Committed Here

MAY NAME SEVERAL THROUGH STREETS

Despite the punishing rays of heat that permeated city council chambers in the municipal building Thursday, Mayor Charles B. Mayne and colleagues held a session largely devoted to a discussion of traffic, and violations, out of which probably will ensue a revamping of traffic regulations here.

The traffic discussion was precipitated when a recommendation that Laurel avenue, between Highland and Wilmington avenues, be designated as a through thoroughfare, was held over, upon recommendation of Councilman James L. Fink to permit a study of other lanes which may be placed in the same category.

The question of permitting heavily-laden trucks to pass over certain streets also had an inning. City Engineer Glenn R. Throop told ow effortsh were made to prevent Cedar street from being damaged and of the endeavors being almost negligible.

Parking of motor cars with headlights illuminated, against the current of traffic also was condemned, and failure to observe stop signs and violation of safety zones were criticised. Speeding and drunken driving came in for a severe lambasting.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne also pointed out that some autoists have no respect for traffic safety and the indication developed that traffic regulations will be revamped and that, a more severe enforcement of the auto laws can be looked for.

Junior Chamber Mass Meeting To Be Held In Court House

The court house will be the place and Monday evening, July 28, the time for the public mass meeting the Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor to sound out the public on the Board of Education's collection of delinquent per capita taxes, it was announced today.

President Earl C. Ruby of the junior chamber said the school board has been invited to have a spokesman present to offer the board's side of the tax collection case.

Additional members of the mass meeting arrangements committee, Ruby said, will be Gurth W. Rapson, Jack Gerson, Alvah M. Shumaker, J. Elder Bryan, Paul F. Stark, John S. Powers, Steve Wheale and Sam Haycock.

Flatboats manned by an Indian crew were used for freight and passenger service in Oregon until after 1850.

Work preliminary to actual repaving of North Mercer street between Lincoln avenue and Grant street, is under way. The North Mercer street hill is closed to traffic.

Paving of Clenmore avenue between North Mercer street and Wilmington avenue is progressing, according to city officials. The work is a county project, it was reported.

Speeders, reckless operators, stop sign violators, drunken operators and autoists who park cars opposite the current of traffic should heed a warning that violation will bring arrests here.

Kiddies day, held each Monday, is going over big at Cascade Park. Last Monday there were 1,250 children in the park and the preceding Monday, 975 children.

Cascade Park pool does not close at 8:30 p. m. unless no one is bathing. If anyone is in the pool they may remain until midnight. Reports have been to the contrary. Indications are Night Bathing parties will result.

There is no parking fee for automobiles at Cascade Park. The fee was removed some time ago. Signs at the entrance to the park denote that parking is free. This will help business in the city's recreation center.

Hunt Substitute For Quinine In Fever Treatment

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., July 26.—Medical scientists are conducting a thorough search for a substitute for quinine for the treatment of malarial fevers, it was reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association today.

The report was made by the new committee on chemo-therapy of the division of chemistry and chemical technology of the National Research Council.

It pointed out that "the world is practically dependent for its supply of quinine on Java and the Kina Bureau (its selling agent) and might be cut off from this supply or perhaps compelled to pay exorbitant prices if Java should be seized by some other nation."

Watching Willkie develop as president would be fun. Is there any sloppy way to wear a plug hat?

Family Of Attache Of Paris Embassy Reaches New Castle

"Bad enough but not as bad as it sounds", was the "summing up" given the recent situation in Paris by Mrs. Marc L. Severe, wife of an attache at the American consulate in Paris. Mrs. Severe, with her two children, John Manning Severe and Nancy Carol Severe, and Mrs. Severe's mother, Mrs. Phoebe Mills, all of Paris, France, are now visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Edmond Perry, of 2304 Highland avenue.

Mrs. Severe and children and Mrs. Mills came to this country on June 21, from Paris, on the United States liner, Washington, which was stopped off the coast of Ireland by a Nazi submarine. The passengers were forced to get into lifeboats, but later the ship was allowed to continue on its way when it was announced that there had been a "mistake".

The Severes and Mrs. Mills were met in New York by Mrs. Perry and before coming here they visited in New York and with Mr. Severe's brother-in-law, S. L. McCrory, head of the agricultural bureau in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Severe and children are planning to stay here indefinitely, while Mrs. Mills plans to visit friends in Chicago soon.

Mr. Severe is still in Paris and has not been heard from since the family left France on June 8, although word has come through the state department that he is safe. It is understood that no direct news can come from Paris at the present time.

Mrs. Severe, a resident of Paris for nearly 19 years, left there on May 18, evacuating to Bordeaux. On the trip down to Bordeaux, she states she saw many refugees, both Belgians and French, some in camouflaged cars, painted different colors and covered with trees or mattresses. She left Paris before it was bombed but has heard that one bomb dropped within a block of her home. So far, she has received no word and doesn't know whether or not her home was damaged in any way.

John Manning Severe is now at the Y. M. C. A. camp, Fred L. Rentz, with the Perry children, Stewart and John O.

Afeer six months effort the dog license totals have reached 8,177 which is a trifle better than previous years. It is estimated there are about 9,000 dogs in Lawrence County and if this figure be true, most of them are now tagged.

County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer and a part of his force are in Ellwood City today where taxes are being collected. The office in the court house is working with half a force but handled the work well under difficulties.

Upon request of County Commissioner J. F. Travers, the board of county commissioners granted the use of court room number one for use Monday night for a meeting of citizens.

Clair S. Miller has filed a suit against Joseph Bordonaro senior and junior Alexander Canfora, trading and doing business as Bordonaro and Canfora in the amount of $5,000. The damages are asked because of an automobile collision on East Washington street, February 24, 1940.

The plaintiff alleges he was unloading a car about 4 o'clock when a truck of the defendants crashed into his car, knocking him to the street and injuring his car. He asks the damages for injuries sustained to himself.

County Controller Frank W. Hill has been named chairman of the publicity committee for the annual convention of Pennsylvania controllers to be held in Beaver, September 25-26-27. Mr. Hill has been called to a meeting in Harrisburg August 6-7 for a conference with the joint government committee and the legislative reference bureau.

In the permanent registration office this week there is a rather macabre exhibit. A long section of the rope, including the noose, used in a county jail hanging in 1909 is there, as well as the black cap which was placed over his head. The exhibits belong to Miss Edna Waddington, a granddaughter of the late John B. Waddington who was sheriff at the time.

Miss Waddington also has a number of old copies of The News and the Herald, which give accounts of the drying of Lawrence county when Judge W. E. Porter refused all licenses, and various political fights of 1906 to 11.

The clerks in the office of Register and Recorder Orville Potter seem to be trying for a wide variety of geography in their vacations. Miss Katherine Wagner chose New England and the Cape Cod district for her trip, Miss Katherine Dickson is presently on the Pacific Coast and Miss Elizabeth Heller will go to Atlanta, Georgia, later.

A young lady walked out of the office of Prothonotary John A. Edgar Thursday pleased with the answer Mr. Edgar gave her. She was declared a citizen although she had thought for years she wasn't.

In 1921 her father was naturalized when she was a girl of 17. In December 1922 she married an alien and assumed that this made her an alien again. She had not understood that she came under the act of 1922 which permitted women marrying aliens to retain their citizenship.

Oil And Scrap Iron Barred To Warring Totalitarian Powers By Decree

By LEON SHLOSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The oil industry today disclosed plans for a government-sponsored campaign to build up stocks of high octane aviation gasoline, vital in time of war.

The announcement came as the National Petroleum Association pledged full cooperation in maintaining the newly-instituted government policy of keeping American petroleum and petroleum products out of the hands of the warring totalitarian powers—Germany, Italy and Japan.

President Roosevelt yesterday added petroleum, petroleum products and scrap iron to the list of "basic materials of war" over which the government, under a recent act of congress, is exercising export control. At the same time, the treasury department announced denial of clearance papers to two tankers loaded with oil for Spain.

Spain's pro-axis leanings are well-known, and Spanish petroleum imports from the United States have jumped about 33 per cent in a year. Japan has been a heavy purchaser of American scrap metal.

Son Is Born To Local Missionaries

Rev. and Mrs. Chester T. R. Yeates, of the Third United Presbyterian church, have received word by radiogram from India of the birth of a son to Rev. and Mrs. James E. Brown, missionaries of the Third Church, this city, who are now located in Rowal Pindi, India.

The son, named Martin, was born July 23. Mrs. Brown is the daughter of Dr. J. Walter Leiggitt, pastor of the Seventh United Presbyterian church in Philadelphia, who is well known in this vicinity.

Rev. and Mrs. Brown have been in their Indian station for the past five years and will remain until 1942.

First introduced in England during 1799 as a temparary measure, income taxes were not regarded as a permanent sourse of income until 1842.

Services Tonight At Tifereth Israel

This evening the regular Friday evening services at the Tifereth Israel Synagogue will be held at 7:30 o'clock, with Rabbi Gilbert A. Elefant in charge.

Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, services will commence at the synagogue, and during the services, the confirmation or Bar Mitzvah of Lawrence M Grossman will be held. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Grossman, 123 Fairfield avenue. Lawrence will read the scriptures and also address the congregation.

Following the services, the Grossmans will serve a luncheon in the social rooms of the synagogue, to members of the congregation.

As we understand the Nazis, it isn't their fault if they bomb civilians. Unfair gunners make them fly so high they can't aim well.

NEIGHBORHOOD HOUSE PICNIC ON AUGUST 5

GOVERNOR WILL MAKE VISIT TO GUARD TROOPS

Will Spend Several Days In Northern New York During Early August

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 26.—Gov. Arthur H. James today is preparing to spend several days in northern New York with the civilian soldiers of Pennsylvania's National Guard who take three weeks of intensive training next month. The movement of Pennsylvania troops north will begin August 4.

At the same time, the governor, loathe to discuss politics, said he was making some changes in state personnel, but that these were minor.

"I'm making changes bit by bit," he said, "but we are months and months ahead of the previous administration as far as the cleanup is concerned."

Still 2,000 Democrats On Jobs

County leaders contend there are still 2,000 Democratic employes on the state payroll. Two major vacancies exist on the liquor control board and the milk control commission.

The governor was visited by Michael Kosick, president of District 1, United Mine Workers of America; Hugh Brown, president of District 7; and Martin Brennan, president of District 9, who conferred with him regarding a successor to the late John Ira Thomas, secretary of mines.

Thomas was also a member of the allocation committee which fixes the weekly quota of anthracite coal to be mined and a successor will have to be named to that body. Secretary of Commerce Richard P. Brown temporarily is filling the vacancy.

The governor said he has reached no decision about a successor to Thomas.

French West Africa Missionaries, Well

Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis, of 916 Marshall avenue, have been advised that missionaries in French West Africa are all well. Their daughter, Cecelia, and Miss Sallie Botham, of this city, are both located there, the former for sixteen years, the latter for twenty-six years, and maintained by the Christian and Missionary Alliance church.

The communication was received from Rev. A. C. Snead, New York City, head of the foreign department of the denomination, stating that a cablegram had been received that morning, from the French West Africa chairman, Rev. C. C. Ryan, dated at Kankan, July 23, with the following words: "Advise relatives, missionaries all well."

Rev. Snead goes on to say, "I am happy to pass this word on to you, and also assure you that the work is going forward in French West Africa, and there has been no hint whatever from the field, of any evacuation."

Berlin Claims Eleven British Ships Are Sunk

(International News Service)

BERLIN, July 26—The great single air raid success of the war, sinking of 1 British ships in a convoy of 23 in the English channel was claimed by the German high command today.

Official announcement claimed that 3 other merchant vessels were damaged so severely that "their loss can be assumed" and that two British destroyers also were badly damaged.

The raid was carried out late yesterday afternoon and in the early evening over the channel.

Stuka dive bombers and other types of German planes participated in the raid, which sank ships totalling 43,000 tons, according to the high command. The damaged vessels, excluding the destroyers totalled 12,000 tons, the statement added.

Gold Rush At Camp Phillips

Boy Scouts "Pan" Slippery Rock For Valued "Gold Nuggets"

Boy Scouts at Camp John M. Phillips staged a regular "Gold Rush of '49" at their camp Thursday as they went in search of home made "gold nuggets."

Bill Klee, activities director at the camp, buried a large number of small pieces of lead in the sand along the Slippery Rock Creek. Here the boys panned for the gold during most of Thursday afternon.

Any of the "nuggets" found could be exchanged for merchandise at the camp canteen, thus making the event a regular gold hunt.

The weekly water sports carnival was a feature of the Thursday program at camp, with most of the Scouts taking part. Owen P. Fox, city forester, spoke at the camp Wednesday evening, on, "Indian Lore" and displayed a number of Indian articles.

The raid was carried out late yesterday afternoon and in the early evening over the channel.

Stuka dive bombers and other types of German planes participated in the raid, which sank ships totalling 43,000 tons, according to the high command. The damaged vessels, excluding the destroyers totalled 12,000 tons, the statement added.

Gold Rush At Camp Phillips

Boy Scouts "Pan" Slippery Rock For Valued "Gold Nuggets"

Boy Scouts at Camp John M. Phillips staged a regular "Gold Rush of '49" at their camp Thursday as they went in search of home made "gold nuggets."

Bill Klee, activities director at the camp, buried a large number of small pieces of lead in the sand along the Slippery Rock Creek. Here the boys panned for the gold during most of Thursday afternon.

Any of the "nuggets" found could be exchanged for merchandise at the camp canteen, thus making the event a regular gold hunt.

The weekly water sports carnival was a feature of the Thursday program at camp, with most of the Scouts taking part. Owen P. Fox, city forester, spoke at the camp Wednesday evening, on, "Indian Lore" and displayed a number of Indian articles.

White Sox On Winning Streak

Have Won Seven Straight Games Are Headed For Top, Pirates Beat Giants

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 26.—With ball players fainting in the dugouts these sweltering days, the grumbling among them over their sad lot is something terrific.

However, there are no complaints emanating from the sweet-scented purlieus of Chicago's south side where that roistering, cigar-chewing hoss-trader, Jimmy Dykes and his White Sox hang out.

Little Jimmy is sitting pretty these days and the heat wave can continue unabated so long as his white hosed minoins continue to win.

While everybody has been discussing the pennant chances of the Tigers, Indians, Red Sox and Yanks, nobody has given a tumble to Jimmy's ball club.

White Sox Hot

The White Sox have now won seven straight games and today are only two games out of third place. If they can knock off the Yanks in the series starting today they will not only move into the first division but will have a large strident voice in deciding where the pennant flag shall fly.

The Red Sox made three homers off Jack Knott yesterday but he rang up No. 7 for the White Sox, 6-4. Joe Kuhel's homer providing the winning margin.

The Tigers increased their lead by topping the Senators, 5 to 2, while the Athletics were downing the Indians, 7 to 6. And the Yanks ended a five-game losing streak by pounding a quintet of Brownie throwers for 16 hits and a 13-8 decision.

Pirates Trip Giants

The idling Dodgers and Reds each picked up half a game on the Giants who bowed before the Pirates 2 to 1 when young Glen Stewart, subbing for Billy Jurges at short, messed up a double play ball, the Pirates scoring a run without a hit. This was a tough one for Hal Schumacher to lose as he gave the Bucs only six hits while the Giants made nine off Truett Sewell, but who was effective with men on base.

With a little help from old man Charley Root, Bill Lee managed to pitch the Cubs to an 8-4 decision over the Bees. Rain forced the postponement of the night game scheduled bewteen St. Louis and Philadelphia.

FANNINS PLAY TONIGHT

The Fannins will play the New Castle Indies in an exhibition game at Rose avenue field at 6 o'clock. The Indies will enter the Class B league for the second half. The Indies are managed by "Fi" Augustine. Last night the Fannins won a forfeit game when the Pearson Boys club did not have enough players to take the field.

SHORT SPORTS

Pitt athletic teams appeared in some 25 cities during the past year, against 35 different college and university squads, and traveled in 25 different states in making their trips. The Blue and Gold went from Seattle in the northwest to Boston in the East and from Minneapolis in the North to Durham in the South.

Frank McCormick, Cincinnati Reds' first baseman, has an impacted wisdom tooth which constantly bothers him, but he'll wait until the end of the season before having it removed.

New York—Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, German six-day bike stars, have been ordered home by their government. They will return by way of Japan and Russia.

Culver, Ind.—Bill Menke, Indiana's star basketball center, is coaching tennis here this summer.

The Yankee "Murderers Row" can remember vividly each and every hit made this year.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Do you remember? Gus Thompson, the catcher and the many fine games he caught? He got as far as Scranton in the New York state league. Jewie Coen, pitcher-outfielder, a canny chap who may yet have his nutmeg scraper which aided him to beguile batters? When Claude Patton's hair was not as gray as now and when he could step off the 100 yards dash? When Tom McMahon beat Gunboat Smith and cracked three of Bat Levinsky's ribs? How many recall how long they kept the lights on in this city the night George Chip knocked out Frank Klaus to win the middleweight title? When Harper Dick handled the reins behind some good trotters and pacers at the various tracks and when Kate Hal, with George Bennett driving set a new mark at the Fair ground? Recall J. J. Morrow, the horseman who delighted in showing his horses? John Brinton judged at horse races here? Yes, they're all here, excepting Morrow who has passed the Last Wire. However, they're off the active list but yet vitally interested in their respective lines.

One of the young pitchers of this section who bears watching is Mike Frenzel, who adorns the hill for South Hills in the City-County Independent league. He has pitched three no-hit, no run games. Mike is not yet through school, stands about five feet seven inches and weighs about 165 pounds. Scouts watching for minor league prospects will likely eye Frenzel. Mike Marino is sponsor of the South Hills team. Joe Augustyn manages the aggregation. Mike Frenzel is brother of Billy, who stirred fans when he was a preliminary fighter at the Jolly Bowl, years ago.

In the Seabright tennis tourney yesterday Frank Kovacs, Oakland, Cal., defeated Frankie Parker, Pasadena, Cal., and reached a semi-final position. In the semi-final, also went Bobby Riggs, Chicago, national champion. He battled three sets to eliminate Henry Prusoff, Seattle, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4. . . . Henry Bruder, backfield star of the Green Bay Packers is sought by the Pittsburgh Pirates. . . . Charlie Burley and Georgie Abrams, middleweights, will fight Monday night in Pittsburgh. . . . Struck on the face by a thrown ball Bob Feller must have a tooth removed. . . . Spud Hanover won the Goldsmith Maid stake in 2:04½ nd 2:06½, at Pawtucket's G. C. meet, Thursday. . . . At Empire City, Don Meade rode Williamston to win the six furlong fifth event in 1:09 2-5.

I. W. O. TEAM WINS

The I. W. O. team won a Class B softball league game last night from the North Highland A. C. team at the Progressive field 12 to 2. C. Mernado led the hitting attack with three hits. Joseph was the winning hurler, giving but four hits. Headland was the losing pitcher.

EDDIE ZIVIC LOSES

AT NEW YORK—Gunnar Barlund, 199, Finland, scored a technical knockout over Italo Colonello, 202, Italy in three rounds and at Hartford, Conn., Marty Servo, 139, Schenectady, N. Y. won on a technical knockout over Eddie Zivic, 139½, Pittsburgh, in six rounds.

Games Tonight In City League

There will be two games on the schedule for tonight in the City baseball league. Both games will start at 5:45 o'clock.

The St. Josephs club will go to West Pittsburg to meet the "Gas House" team, and Manager Danny DeGenova announced that either Braky or Tonsetic would take the hill. It will be either Rev. Fr. Peter Schirra or Andy Sugent on the knoll for the Saints.

The other game takes the Moose club to the Lee avenue field to oppose the West Side Tigers. The Moose will use Hall and the Tigers will have either Faller or Morrison on the hill.

PENN POWER TEAM WINS LOOP BATTLE

The Penn Power All-Stars moved into a three-way tie for leadership in the Utility Mushball league last night by defeating the revamped Water Co. team on the latter's field, 9 to 2.

Hensley on the mound for the All-Stars, allowed but four hits, while Davis gave up ten hits to the winners. Spencer and Muse had home runs for the Power team, with Lester "Bus" Reiber the best for the Water Co.

Sports World Ramblings

Along leatherfist lane—Roy Crews, Ellwood City's welterweight, and "Sonny" Horne, Niles' sweetheart, staged an encore in Girard, Tuesday. The Ohioan grabbed the duke again. On the same program, "Buck" Chambers, West Pittsburg, was iced by one of George Saunders' blows in the opening chukker. Ricky Loccisano, another Ellwoodian, beat Tommy Bracken, Warren, while Vic Regatti, Warren, bested Bobby Forsythe, 140 pound simon-pure from Ellwood. . . .

Billy Soose's victory over Ken Overlin practically squashes all possibilities of a Johnny Dean-Soose match. Soose's surprise win over the middleweight boss means that the Farrell athlete will be playing for big chips from here in. So why gamble with small stuff? The Soose camp can't afford to snatch a match in which Soose would have everything to lose and nothing to gain. Johnny Dean, nevertheless, will perform in Youngstown, August 20. His opponent has not been named as yet. . . .

Bits of everything — Hayden Evans, of Orange, N. J., is spending the summer here, a custom he has observed religiously for years. The former New Castle High-Grove City College slicker, who guides the athletic destinies of the Jersey school, will return during the latter part of August. . . . Mike Frengel's two no-hitters top all other diamond feats here this season. The South Hills thrower has plenty of pitching stuff. City-County League swatsmiths will verify that. . . .

Detroit's juicy .283 batting mark has been one of the chief reasons for the Tigers' climb to the top of the American League pile. . . . The tables have turned. Not too long ago, Cincinnati was an easy mark for Pittsburgh. As of today, the belligerent Reds have dropped a lone decision to the Bucs. . . . So far, close to 375 homers have been smashed in the American Association League. . . .

H. Walker and Ab Wright, Minneapolis teammates, are deadlocked for the American Association home run derby title with 22 base clouters apiece. . . . Like all pitchers, "Bucky" Walters has had his dark seasons. While pegging for the Phillies, one year, Walters dropped 21 games. . . . Upon taking over an outfield berth with the Tigers, Hank Greenberg got himself a mitt which ranks as the largest outfielders' glove in the majors. . . .

If Cleveland and Detroit are running neck and neck in September, both clubs get a break. Cleveland performs on home soil from September 7 to September 19. The Injuns return September 27. The Tigers get an even better shake. Starting on September 4, the Bengals will be hosts for 20 games. The way things shape up now, you can look for a National League finish for a change. . . .

White Sox On Winning Streak

Have Won Seven Straight Games Are Headed For Top, Pirates Beat Giants

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 26.—With ball players fainting in the dugouts these sweltering days, the grumbling among them over their sad lot is something terrific.

However, there are no complaints emanating from the sweet-scented purlieus of Chicago's south side where that roistering, cigar-chewing hoss-trader, Jimmy Dykes and his White Sox hang out.

Little Jimmy is sitting pretty these days and the heat wave can continue unabated so long as his white hosed rolnoins continue to win.

While everybody has been discussing the pennant chances of the Tigers, Indians, Red Sox and Yanks, nobody has given a tumble to Jimmy's ball club.

White Sox Hot

The White Sox have now won seven straight games and today are only two games out of third place. If they can knock off the Yanks in the series starting today they will not only move into the first division but will have a large strident voice in deciding where the pennant flag shall fly.

The Red Sox made three homers off Jack Knott yesterday but he rang up No. 7 for the White Sox, 6-4. Joe Kuhel's homer providing the winning margin.

The Tigers increased their lead by topping the Senators, 5 to 2, while the Athletics were downing the Indians, 7 to 6. And the Yanks ended a five-game losing streak by pounding a quintet of Brownie throwers for 16 hits and a 13-8 decision.

Pirates Trip Giants

The idling Dodgers and Reds each picked up half a game on the Giants who bowed before the Pirates 2 to 1 when young Glen Stewart, subbing for Billy Jurges at short, messed up a double play ball, the Pirates scoring a run without a hit. This was a tough one for Hal Schumacher to lose as he gave the Bucs only six hits while the Giants made nine off Truett Sewell, but who was effective with men on base.

With a little help from old man Charley Root, Bill Lee managed to pitch the Cubs to an 8-4 decision over the Bees. Rain forced the postponement of the night game scheduled bewteen St. Louis and Philadelphia.

FANNINS PLAY TONIGHT

The Fannins will play the New Castle Indies in an exhibition game at Rose avenue field at 6 o'clock. The Indies will enter the Class B league for the second half. The Indies are managed by "Fi" Augustine. Last night the Fannins won a forfeit game when the Pearson Boys club did not have enough players to take the field.

SHORT SPORTS

Pitt athletic teams appeared in some 25 cities during the past year, against 35 different college and university squads, and traveled in 25 different states in making their trips. The Blue and Gold went from Seattle in the northwest to Boston in the East and from Minneapolis in the North to Durham in the South.

Frank McCormick, Cincinnati Reds' first baseman, has an impacted wisdom tooth which constantly bothers him, but he'll wait until the end of the season before having it removed.

New York—Gustav Killan and Heinz Vopel, German six-day bike stars, have been ordered home by their government. They will return by way of Japan and Russia.

Culver, Ind.—Bill Menke, Indiana's star basketball center, is coaching tennis here this summer.

The Yankee "Murderers Row" can remember vividly each and every hit made this year.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Do you remember? Gus Thompson, the catcher and the many fine games he caught? He got as far as Scranton in the New York state league. Jewie Coen, pitcher-outfielder, a canny chap who may yet have his nutmeg scraper which aided him to beguile batters? When Claude Patton's hair was not as gray as now and when he could step off the 100 yards dash? When Tom McMahon beat Gunboat Smith and cracked three of Bat Levinsky's ribs? How many recall how long they kept the lights on in this city the night George Chip knocked out Frank Klaus to win the middleweight title? When Harper Dick handled the reins behind some good trotters and pacers at the various tracks and when Kate Hal, with George Bennett driving set a new mark at the Fair ground? Recall J. J. Morrow, the horseman who delighted in showing his horses? John Brinton judged at horse races here? Yes, they're all here, excepting Morrow who has passed the Last Wire. However, they're off the active list but yet vitally interested in their respective lines.

One of the young pitchers of this section who bears watching is Mike Frenzel, who adorns the hill for South Hills in the City-County Independent league. He has pitched three no-hit, no run games. Mike is not yet through school, stands about five feet seven inches and weighs about 165 pounds. Scouts watching for minor league prospects will likely eye Frenzel. Mike Marino is sponsor of the South Hills team. Joe Augustyn manages the aggregation. Mike Frenzel is brother of Billy, who stirred fans when he was a preliminary fighter at the Jolly Bowl, years ago.

In the Seabright tennis tourney yesterday Frank Kovacs, Oakland, Cal., defeated Frankie Parker, Pasadena, Cal., and reached a semi-final position. In the semi-final, also went Bobby Riggs, Chicago, national champion. He battled three sets to eliminate Henry Prusoff, Seattle, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4. . . . Henry Bruder, backfield star of the Green Bay Packers is sought by the Pittsburgh Pirates. . . . Charlie Burley and Georgie Abrams, middleweights, will fight Monday night in Pittsburgh. . . . Struck on the face by a thrown ball Bob Feller must have a tooth removed. . . . Spud Hanover won the Goldsmith Maid stake in 2:04½ nd 2:08½, at Pawtucket's G. C. meet, Thursday. . . . At Empire City, Don Meade rode Williamston to win the six furlong fifth event in 1:09 2-5.

I. W. O. TEAM WINS

The I. W. O. team won a Class B softball league game last night from the North Highland A. C. team at the Progressive field 12 to 2. C. Mernado led the shitting attack with three hits. Joseph was the winning hurler, giving but four hits. Headland was the losing pitcher.

EDDIE ZIVIC LOSES

Report King Of Rumania May Attempt To Make Trip To Britain Soon

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 26 — Possibility that King Carol of Rumania may come or attempt to come to England to seek relief from the political witch's cauldron in the Balkans was discussed in the British capital today.

Unconfirmed reports circulated in usually well informed diplomatic quarters that Carol has quietly approached the British government.

He is said to have asked whether it would be possible for him to enjoy at least a temporary sojourn in England in view of the allegedly growing difficulty of his position in Rumania owing to the rapid Nazification of his country.

(Editor's Note: It is at least noteworthy that this report sprang up in London simultaneously with the opening at Saltzburg, Germany, of a conference among German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and Rumanian Premier Von Gigurtu and Foreign Minister Mihail Manoilescu regarding Rumania's future.

Miss Mary Strickler of Fairmont, West Virginia, is vacationing with her brother and sister, Robert and Miss Laura Strickler, of Winter avenue. The former has concluded six weeks summer school at Duke University, Durham, North Carolina.

Rev. Norman Spear, of Oak street has returned from Bushong, Kansas, where is attended the funeral of his father H. L. Spear.

LONDON, July 26 — Possibility that King Carol of Rumania may come or attempt to come to England to seek relief from the political witch's cauldron in the Balkans was discussed in the British capital today.

Unconfirmed reports circulated in usually well informed diplomatic quarters that Carol has quietly approached the British government.

He is said to have asked whether it would be possible for him to enjoy at least a temporary sojourn in England in view of the allegedly growing difficulty of his position in Rumania owing to the rapid Nazification of his country.

(Editor's Note: It is at least noteworthy that this report sprang up in London simultaneously with the opening at Saltzburg, Germany, of a conference among German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and Rumanian Premier Von Gigurtu and Foreign Minister Mihail Manoilescu regarding Rumania's future.

Miss Mary Strickler of Fairmont, West Virginia, is vacationing with her brother and sister, Robert and Miss Laura Strickler, of Winter avenue. The former has concluded six weeks summer school at Duke University, Durham, North Carolina.

Rev. Norman Spear, of Oak street has returned from Bushong, Kansas, where is attended the funeral of his father H. L. Spear.

If the war should end soon . . . and we sure hope it does. All those amateur generals that stand on the streets will have to go back to their original pastime . . . managing local affairs.

The New Castle Airport is becoming more and more popular . . . every day finds a new face on the field . . . ready to start the flying game. In some circles it was believed that the sun would start to cool off in such and such a year . . . that idea has been discarded and now it is believed that the sun will get a lot hotter before it starts to cool off a billion years or so from now . . . that just goes to show you what some people will talk about in the month of July . . . the last couple of days have been a little warm, eh, what!

Hope I get two on the top so I can eat some corn on the cob this year . . . won't my doctor be surprised when mom tells him about me eating corn on the cob. Stock Market Higher Today

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, July 26.—The stock market moved upward today under the lead of heavy industry shares, with a few leaders gaining a point or more. Trading picked up some, but volume totals continued at relatively low levels.

Motors and steels were the strongest groups, reflecting the bullish second-quarter earnings reports of Bethlehem and Chrysler issued after the close yesterday. Both of these were up well over a point on a steady advance through the forenoon.

Virtually all sections of the list participated. Turnover in the first hour totaled 90,000 shares vs. 60,000 shares yesterday and 40,000 in the same period Wednesday.

Sophie Tucker Headlines Entertainment At Manos Theater Thursday Evening

IS HONOR GUEST AT DINNER PARTY

ELLWOOD CITY, July 26—With an entertainment headlined by Sophie Tucker, famous entertainer of a quarter of a century, the program given in the Monos Theater last evening, through the courtesy of the manager, Harry Bondurant, proved highly successful and will swell the War Relief Fund quota of the Ellwood City Red Cross chapter, considerably.

Preceding the program in the theater, Miss Tucker was honored at a dinner in the United Presbyterian church, which was attended by 75 persons, members of the executive committee of the Chapter from New Castle and Ellwood City, and other friends of the Chapter.

Brief remarks were made by H. W. Smith, chairman of the Ellwood City War Relief Fund, W. F. Kegel, "Denny" Schill and Miss Tucker. The greetings of the Lawrence County Chapter were brought by Ralph F. Davis, Chapter chairman.

Many telegrams were read from officers and friends of the Red Cross, which included messages from National Chairman Norman Davis and Manager of the Eastern Area, Walter Davidson. Miss Tucker was precented with a beautiful corsage of orchids, the gift of one of the executive committe members.

After the dinner, the entire group proceeded to the theatre and a short parade took place, with an escort of police. At the theatre the group was met by the High school band, American flags and Red Cross flags decorated the streets, giving a patriotic atmosphere.

Legion All Stars Defeat Chicora

Take Series Opener From Chicora, 12 To 3, With Greco Having 16 Strikeouts

ELLWOOD CITY, July 26.—The Ellwood City American Legion Junior All-Stars took the first of a "best out of three series" from the Chicora Legioneers on the Ewing Park diamond last night, beginning the district playoffs. The score was 12 to 3 for the locals.

The visitors reached Greco for 11 safeties, two more than the locals were able to total from the Stevens brothers of Chicora, but Greco kept their hits well scattered and fanned 16 batters to keep the losers in check and gain a 12-3 victory.

Four runs in the fifth on three free tickets and singles by Murphy and Purdue resulted in R. Stevens being replaced on the mound by his brother and erased any doubts as to the result of the contest.

The All-Stars go to Chicora tonight where they hope to take the deciding game. If a third game is necessary it would be played at Butler on Saturday. Tom Smiley will be the locals hurling choice in today's contest.

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, July 26.—The stock market moved upward today under the lead of heavy industry shares, with a few leaders gaining a point or more. Trading picked up some, but volume totals continued at relatively low levels.

Motors and steels were the strongest groups, reflecting the bullish second-quarter earnings reports of Bethlehem and Chrysler issued after the close yesterday. Both of these were up well over a point on a steady advance through the forenoon.

Virtually all sections of the list participated. Turnover in the first hour totaled 90,000 shares vs. 60,000 shares yesterday and 40,000 in the same period Wednesday.

Baptists Picnic At Cascade Park

Annual Outing Of Congregation On Thursday Proves Most Enjoyable

At the First Baptist Sunday school picnic, Thursday, some three hundred members and friends sat at the supper tables in the grove, at Cascade Park.

For diversions, there were games, races, and contests for the young folks. Boys race, 50 yards, Harold Capitola; boys 100 yard dash, David Kish; three legged race, Jack Capitola; shoe scramble, George Capps; girls race, 50 yards, Dorothy Maul; girls 100 yard dash, Jean Griffith; cracker contest, Mary Ann Johnson.

A treasure hunt was enjoyed by the group.

The oldsters enjoyed horseshoe pitching throughout the afternoon and evening. During the contests, former Judge Hildebrand rolled a shoe into the creek, which was promptly "fished" out with a five foot pole by Ralph Hay.

Mrs. Saddie Waddington Tillman, was the oldest person at the picnic, and baby Leonard, the youngest. Mrs. Tillman was brought to the picnic by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Elmore, in their car. It was her first time out for several months, having been quite ill.

Elmer Brown, and his aides, prepared and served the coffee and ice cream. Manning Weller was assisted by Bob Wilkins and George Henderson, handled the sports and contests.

The table committee was Mrs. Ralph Hay, Mrs. Stanley Reese, Mrs. C. L. Klingensmith, and Mrs. Celia Young. Thomas Arthrell had charge of the children's amusements, and gave them a good time, which included free rides on the "Merry go round".

A number of the picnickers availed themselves of a swim in the pool, trying to cool off from the intense heat, others went boating on the lake.

KILLS GIRL AND COMMITS SUICIDE

"Broken Date" Results In Mary Jane Rogan, 19, Of Scranton, Being Killed

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., July 26.—Breaking a "date" cost Mary Jane Rogan, 19, her life today. The girl was shot and killed as she sat in her home last night by Edo Moretti, 24, an unemployed miner, who then killed himself.

Moretti walked into Mary Jane's home and greeted her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Rogan, in a friendly fashion. Then without another word he drew an automatic pistol and fired five bullets into the girl's body as she sat on a couch with a girl friend. He then killed himself with one shot. Miss Rogan had made a "date" earlier in the day with Moretti and then had broken it, sending Moretti a note telling him she couldn't see him.
